HARDING APPROVES BAN ON TROOPS IN BOSTON PARADE

White House, in Answer to "Displeasing" Message on Evacuation Day, Refers to Foreign Relations.

INCIDENT TOPIC OF HOUR'S CONFERENCE

Message From Head of Boston Organization Asked,
'Are These Men Satellites
of Foreign Governments?'

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Action of army and navy officers in refusing to permit American troops to participate in an Evacuation Day parade today at Boston, of which Irish freedom advocates are in charge, was formally approved today
by President Harding, after a conference with Secretary Hughes of the State Department and Secretary Weeks of the War Department.

Harding received a telegram quoting in terms so displeasing and so caustic that he did not answer it in person, but directed his secretary to sign the reply. The message, which was sent by John F. Harrigan,
State president of the Massachusetts Council of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, read as follows:

"President Harding: Gen. Ruck-man and Admiral Dunn in press statements today say that to permit troops to march in partisan demonstration, especially one unfriendly to another nation, would be a serious breach of international amity.
Evacuation day, March 17, is a local celebration of loyalty and patriotism that no developer of tourism, no matter how exalted his position, can stop. Are these officials Americans or satellites of foreign governments?" Ruckman and Dunn asked the officials of the Evacuation day parade
if the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic intends to participate in the parade.
When they were told "Yes" they warned against the parading with them of men in United States uniform whether in service or reservists.
Are they autocrats or is this a democracy? They say no authority can revoke this decree. It is for Washington to say whether they are supreme. As Americans we demand action in the name of the United States of our State, now, and the revocation of orders from Ruckman and Dunn."

The White House gave out the text of the foregoing message, and also this reply by Secretary Christian:
"Your telegram has been called to the attention of the President and he directs me to say in reply that army and navy commanders have authority to direct the forces under their commands. The Government raises no issue about the fitness of your celebration of Evacuation day and the spirit of St. Patrick's day is felt throughout our country, but the naval and military forces of the nation have no part in any demonstration which may be construed as influencing the foreign relations of the Republic."

The message was sent from the White House after Secretary Hughes had been in conference with Mr.
Harding for an hour. During the discussion Secretary Weeks also was called in. The reports of the military and naval officers in direct charge of the troops at Boston are understood to have been reviewed in detail before a decision was reached.

BAN ON DRUGGISTS' LIQUOR WITHDRAWALS TO END APRIL 1

Announcement by Kramer Also Says Wholesale Dealers Must Go Out of Business About May 15.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The ban prohibiting withdrawals of whisky from bonded warehouses in so far as it affects retail druggists will be lifted April 1, under an order issued today by Prohibition Commissioner Kramer.
Modification of the order stopping withdrawals was not extended to wholesale liquor dealers.
Coincidentally, Kramer announced that wholesale officers must go out of business about May 15.
He said also that plans of the bureau provided for the completion of regulations based on former Atorney-General Palmer's opinion as to wholesalers to be effective about the same date.

KING OF SIAM ANNULS BETROTHAL

BANGKOK, Siam, March 17.—
King Maha Vajiravudh has annulled his betrothal to his cousin, the daughter of Prince Vararath, on the ground of incompatibility of temperament. It is believed here, however, that the annulment is due to the ill health of the Princess.

HAMON DEFENSE BEGINS ARGUMENT AT COURT'S ORDER

Efforts to Have Case Go Immediately to Jury by Waiving of Right to Review Testimony Ruled Out.

THREE POINTS IN COURT'S INSTRUCTIONS

Jury May Return Verdict of Murder, or First or Second Degree Manslaughter—
Fine of $1 Possible.

By the Associated Press.
ARDMORE, Ok., March 17.—An effort of the defense to waive their right of arguments and have the case of Clara Smith Hamon, on trial charged with the murder of Jake L.
Hamon, go immediately to the jury,
was ruled out by Judge Thomas W.
Champion this morning, and defense counsel began pleas for acquittal of the defendant.

Joe Ben Champion, twin brother of the judge, opened for the defense.

With the announced plans of both State and defense, it appeared that the entire day might be taken up with arguments and the case actually be given to the jury late today.

The attorneys spoke without a time limit, agreement to allow five hours for each side having been ab-rogated.

Champion said the case had been delayed by the State, and referred to the speech of G. H. Brown, special prosecutor, as not having touched on the evidence. He referred to the participation in the case of Attorney General Fearing as a high State official "sent down here to prosecute a poor, innocent country girl for shooting a millionaire."

Champion's eyes filled with tears at this reference.

"When Jake Hamon met her," Champion said, referring to Clara Hamon, "she was a brown-eyed girl;
when he lured, coaxed, wooed and won, he was a powerful lawyer of 40 years, a master mind."

"Refers to 'Innocent Girl.'"
He took her, an innocent country girl, educated her, sent her to college, not that she might serve him as stenographer, but that finally in the end she might yield."

L. C. Mullen, a friend of Jake Hamon, who sat within three feet of the speaking attorney, leaned over and took Champion's arm and tried to stop him when he referred to J. S.
Mullen, his brother, as having been one who "countenanced 10 years of the association of Hamon and the woman."

Sheriff Buck Garrett, sitting immediately behind Mullen, reached over and took him by the shoulder.

"Here, here, you must cut that out," the sheriff warned.

Walter Scott of Fort Worth, of defense counsel, took a seat between Mullen and Champion.

Champion called Attorney March-ant before the jury, laid him on a table, and used a law book for a pillow.
"Jim, you are Jake and I'm Clara," he said to Mathers. "You've been drunk all day."

He took the pistol and illustrated his idea of the shooting, as gained from State testimony, and which, he said, was impossible.

"If the grave could open up and the dead man have reproach of conscience, he would tell you that he is the one most to blame," Champion shouted to the jury.

"Plea for Acquittal."
"Girls like this have ever been acquitted; girls like this ever will be acquitted so long as the spirit of God lasts," Champion said in closing, after having "kissed" his little girl shoulder with his her life.

Champion spoke an hour and 20 minutes.

J. H. Mathers started speaking at 10:40 a. m. He charged the Hamon millions, allied with the millions of dollars of business associates, were centered on Clara Hamon, and "it is an unequal fight."

"They are wondering if the Hamon gold has lined the pocket of a judicial Mathers said. "My good friend Brown's 45-minute plea yesterday was for a hung jury; they know they do not deserve a decision."

"Pressure of Money."
"This defendant toiled and slaved
to aid in accumulating Jake Hamon's millions," Attorney Mathers said.
"And now they are bringing the pressure of money she helped gain to prosecute her."

"It is a test of gold against the honor of man; a case based upon perjured facts," Mathers charged.
"You know it as well as I, the testimony in this case has been partly perjured."

"The suit of clothes which it was testified was worn by Hamon at the time of his shooting was not that one introduced as evidence," Mathers continued, "because the one sworn to have been worn by Hamon was introduced as evidence."

WHOLESALE PRICES DOWN 38.5 PER CENT FROM PEAK

Bureau of Labor Statistics Bulletin Announces 5 3/4 Per Cent Drop in February, Based on Charges for 327 Commodities.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 17.—
Wholesale prices of commodities
continued to decrease in February with a drop of 5 3/4 per cent for the month, or a total decrease of 38.5 per cent from the high peak prices of May, 1920, said the monthly bulletin issued today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Food declined 7 per cent for the month or 38 per cent from prices a year ago, the bulletin said, building materials 7 per cent for the month, or 35 per cent below prices a year ago; farm products prices 5 1/2 per cent during the month, or 45 per cent for the year; cloth and clothing prices 5 per cent for the month, and more than 44 per cent for the year.

Fuel and lighting prices dropped 4 1/2 per cent from January prices, but still showed an increase of 16.5
per cent over prices a year ago.

Metal and metal products dropped 4 per cent in February and 22 1/2 per cent for the year; chemicals and drugs 2 1/2 per cent for the month and 8 3/4 per cent for the year; miscellaneous commodities, including such articles as wrapping paper, mill feed middlings, bran, cottonseed meal and oil, lubricating oil, jurubber, news print, soap, tobacco and wood pulp, about 5 1/2 per cent
each for the month, and house furnishings 2 per cent during the month.

Of the 327 commodities included in the comparison, 207 showed a decrease for the month and 33 showed an increase. In 87 cases no change in charge was recorded. Of these a majority were in food and clothing groups.

Plans to enlist the aid of all business and civic organizations in a movement for a daylight saving ordinance in St. Louis were discussed today at a meeting at Hotel Statler, attended by representatives of business concerns and civic organizations. It was proposed that the ordinance provide for setting clocks ahead one hour, beginning the last week in April, and moving them back again the last week in September.

The meeting was called by the Central Council of Municipal Athletic Associations, which has indorsed the daylight saving plan. O.
F. Richards, vice president of the Mercantile Trust Co., presided at the meeting and urged all the organizations to support the plan, so that when the ordinance is introduced it will not be defeated, as it was last year. It was decided to formulate an ordinance, to be presented to the Board of Aldermen within a week or so.

It also was decided to ask all civic and business organizations to take a vote as to whether they would support the movement. The Associated Retailers and the Forest Park Golf Club already have pledged to support such an ordinance, and it was announced the Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce would meet within the next week to consider the proposal.

Richards said that last year the daylight saving ordinance was carried out in 22 cities, and that New York and Chicago already had passed daylight saving ordinances for this year. He added that a vote taken among the employees in 74 business concerns showed that 90 per cent of the employees favored the plan.

Andrew Bonar Law Resigns
FROM THE BRITISH CABINET

Former Government Spokesman, a Unionist, Gives Ill Health as His Reason.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, March 17.—Andrew Bonar Law, Lord of the Privy Seal, today resigned from the Cabinet. Ill health was given as the reason for his resignation.

Bonar Law also retired from the Government leadership in the House of Commons.

The announcement of Bonar Law's retirement was made in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Lloyd George, who was so deeply affected that he could hardly finish his statement. Lloyd George said he had received a letter from Bonar Law this morning, stating he had been warned by his physicians that if he continued he would be in danger of a complete breakdown.

Bonar Law, a Unionist, was one of the leaders in the Coalition Cabinet and for a time was the Government spokesman in the House of Commons. He had a prominent part in the peace conference.

luncheon of the Chamber of Com-about 300 business men. They spoke on the issues of the municipal elec-

Side of the Irish Question."

Mayor Kiel, reading from manu-misconstruction of his statements,

said:

"I appear before you today as the City of St. Louis. Under the election laws of the State of Mis-

BYRNES' CAMPAIGN TO BE DIRECTED BY MAJ. A. B. LAMBERT

Committee of Business Men and Women to Open Headquarters at Eleventh and Olive Streets.

CANDIDATE ISSUES REVISED PLATFORM

No Party Designation to Appear Over Headquarters—Financial Question Today
About $820,000 Deficit.

The words "Byrnes for Mayor" will be the sole designation of the headquarters to be maintained at the northwest corner of Eleventh and Olive streets, by the committee of business men and the women's committee which is to conduct the campaign of James W. Byrnes, up to the city election of April 5.

Byrnes, who was nominated in the primary last Friday on the Democratic ticket, plans to make a nonpartisan campaign, on a platform of business efficiency, and to appeal to the independent vote. He said today that he did not expect the party designation to appear on the headquarters premises. He will speak, during the next two weeks, at meetings arranged by the Democratic City Committee, as well as those arranged by the business men's committee.

Lambert Made Chairman.
Maj. Albert Bond Lambert of 2 Hortense place, manufacturer, airplane and balloon pilot, and former member of the City Council, has been named as chairman of the Business Men's Committee. Byrnes yesterday wrote a letter to Lambert containing a recapitulation of the 10-plant platform which Byrnes announced last Saturday. Byrnes' platform probably will be offered to the meeting of Democratic candidates, at the City Committee's headquarters in the Pontiac Building at 4 p. m. tomorrow, as the city platform of the party. The law requires the holding of such a meeting, and the formal adoption of a platform, by the candidates of each party, before the primary.

Byrnes today said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he would ask, as his question about city finances for this year, how much is the $820,000 short this year, how are we going to be short at the end of four more years of the same administration?

Byrnes said the only issue of the present campaign for Mayor was the personal equation of fitness. "Everybody knows," he said, "that Mr. Kiel has done, and long it has taken him to do it. His present administration winds up with this $820,000 deficit. For another year, with the same methods of management, this would tend to become greater, since general business conditions may be not so good, and there may be a decrease in collections of merchants and manufacturers' licenses."

Business Demands Results.
"With a deficit of more than $800,000, how are we going to do things should be done? The stoppage of waste funds is imperative. It is good business to maintain in office a political machine that has brought out this deficit and admits it? In business, excuses are not accepted, but results are demanded. So it would appear that the taxpayer and the business man are vitally interested."

"I would like to know what method is going to be pursued to square income and expenses. These things affect the internal business of the city, and no administration can properly be termed a business administration that turns up at the end of a year with a loss. "How are you going to cover current expenses? By borrowing, or by increasing present taxes, or by taxing something not now taxed? The present method cannot continue indefinitely."

Byrnes yesterday asked why the city had asked the banks, last fall, to pay their taxes before they were due. Comptroller Nolte said, in reply to this, that the reason was that the city was short of funds in the fall months, owing to abolition of the practice of giving a discount, the rate of 5 per cent a year for tax payments between Sept. 1 and Dec. 31. The present charter abolished this method. Nolte predicted that the city would be "hard up" in like manner next fall, whoever is then Mayor or Comptroller.

Funds Should Be in Treasury.
Byrnes said, when told of this statement, that he did not think it accounted properly for the condition which he had mentioned, especially as the present charter had been in effect five years. "With judicious management," he said, "the funds should be in the treasury to carry the expenditures up to the day that the taxes are due and collected."

In Byrnes' letter to Lambert, the first five planks of his platform are on the same subjects as in the first version these subjects being economy, publicity in city finance, law enforcement by legal processes only, adequate fire department and police department under home rule.

Place Second Only to Clemenceau at Paris Conference Is Accorded to Woodrow Wilson by Lansing

Former Secretary of State Says European Statesmen Were Quick to See and Take Advantage of American President's Obsession for Covenant.

A place second to M. Clemenceau, and second only to him, among all the statesmen who directed affairs at Paris, is accorded to President Wilson by his former Secretary of State, Robert Lansing, in the second of his articles on "The Big Four at the Peace Conference," appearing in the Saturday Evening Post today.

That the President did not achieve first place, in the belief of the writer, was due to the fact that he was not prepared to seize his opportunity and to capitalize his popularity in Europe. If he failed of the full realization of his purpose, Lansing sums up, "it was not out of lack of good intentions, but rather because of inexperience in negotiation, of desire to exercise an independent judgment of exaggeration of the importance of adopting the covenant, and of overconfidence in the motives of others."

The President's decision to sit at the peace table was not the result of impulse but of thoughtful deliberation, it is stated. On the day after the armistice, Lansing advised him that he believed his personal participation in the conference would be a serious mistake. Six days later the President went to Lansing's residence and informed him that after considering the matter very carefully, he had determined to go to the conference.

Effects of the Decision.
The effects of this decision, as set forth by the writer, may be sketched as follows:
The President went to Paris without a definite outline of a treaty with Germany, and with only a crude and undigested plan for a League of Nations. The famous 14 points, a little more than a series of principles and policies. When legal advisers of the American commission attempted to prepare a skeleton treaty, the President was resentful, declaring that he did not intend to permit lawyers to draft the treaty. In consequence, the general scheme of the treaty and many of the important articles were prepared and worked out by the British and French delegations.

While the other heads of states held long daily conferences with their fellow commissioners and experts, the President met the American commissioners as a body only nine times, and summoned the American experts as a body to meet with the American commission only once. "The President," it is asserted, "constituted himself an exclusive repository of all information, opinions and speculations, to which no one was to have access."

Lack of Definite Program.
Because of the lack of a definite American program, the initiative on practically all subjects was taken by M. Clemenceau and Mr. Lloyd George; even in the case of the commission on the League of Nations, which was the initiative apparently passed to Gen. Smuts and Lord Robert Cecil.

Because the principal statesmen of Europe during the war had responded with the President in and street, sewer, park and playground development.

Plank No. 6, as now expressed, is "A healthy city must be a clean city." This takes the place of a previous plank calling for "Ample educational facilities, so far as it lies within the power of the Mayor to be of assistance."

Plank No. 7 is, "Encouragement of new industries, putting the Municipal Bridge to work for the benefit of St. Louis." This represents a combination of planks 7 and 8 in the previous platform, the latter having been, "Make the Municipal Bridge an earner."

For Better Transportation.
Plank No. 8 is, "Improved and rapid transportation at cost," as expressed practically the same as the former plank No. 9. The new No. 9 is, "Holding public service corporations strictly to their obligations. This takes the place of the former No. 10, which was, "Fulfillment of obligations to the city by public service corporations, with an undisturbed enjoyment of their rights, creating the idea that St. Louis is a safe and fair place for the investment of capital, with the uniting of all elements for a bigger and better St. Louis."

The new plank No. 10 is, "Cooperation with all the elements of the people for a greater St. Louis—a good place for business investment."

SEVERAL PERSONS WOUNDED IN DUBLIN SHOOTING AFFRAYS

Serious Clashes Between Military Forces and Police and Civilians Occur in Streets of the City.

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, March 17.—Several serious shooting affrays occurred in this city last night, and a number of persons were injured in encounters between military forces and police and civilians.

A number of soldiers riding in a motor lorry were proceeding along Redmonds Hill street, on the east side of the city last evening, when a bomb was thrown at the machine. The soldiers returned the fire and wounded two persons.

Another lorry was bombed and fired upon from windows of houses along Camden street, and three civilians were wounded when a bomb exploded on Aungier street.

During a melee near the Ship street barracks many shots were fired and three persons were wounded.

For the first time since disorders broke out in Ireland identification discs were given to the troops last night.

Telephone and telegraph wires were cut on an extensive scale during the 24 hours preceding last night, causing the suggestion to be made that some movement on a large scale was being arranged.

Lineamen were held up as they left the central offices and were taken to prevent them making repairs.

A tailor of Keenagh, County Longford, was taken from his work yesterday and shot dead. A card with the words "Shot by the Irish Republican Army for spying" was attached to his body.

A constable was shot dead in North Kerry, and a woman, into whose house the body was taken, died of shock.

HAMON DEFENSE
BEGINS ARGUMENT

By Dr. Hardy to be the one he had on when he entered the hospital was an old one, with the marks of disrepair, and the jury heard that he had previously had testified that the suit Hamon was wearing was a new one and one which he intended to wear to the presidential inauguration.

The testimony of the Rev. T. J. Irwin of Lawton, who delivered Hamon's funeral oration, was declared by the attorney to be either an "untruth" or "this opinion was not inspired by an accredited envoy of God."

"There was never a Bible in Jake Hamon's room," Mathers charged, "because he died as he lived, cursing, swearing and in debauchery."

The defendant at frequent intervals wept silently during the attorney's charges.

"I tell you the bullet which caused Jake Hamon's death was the just execution of the sentence of God," Mathers cried to the jury.

During Mathers' pleading many women in the courtroom crowd wept.

"Murder Not in Heart."
"Murder was not in the heart of this defendant, it was his defense against a brutal attack on her, an act against a man she loved," Mathers said.

The attorney closed pleading for justice in a few minutes, justice against the corruption of gold wash against the influence and prominence of the head of the prosecution, Attorney-General Freeling.

During the noon recess the defense brought from the hotel suite occupied by Hamon and Clara Hamon, the chair with which it is alleged the Colonel struck the defendant when he was shot. It was planned to have Attorney H. McLean use it in his argument.

McLean at 1:30 p. m. began his address by explaining the law of "dying declaration," saying that they should be accepted with great caution.

McLean said that only one point had he and the Court differed.

Time to Look at Books.
"The time has come for the people of St. Louis to look at the books and to have the full light of publicity thrown upon the operations and methods of the city hall machine."

"I am opposed, and I believe a large element of our citizens are opposed, to a city under a machine, as opposed to the traditional policy of this country. Many states recognize that this is contrary to sound policy and have laws forbidding succession in office."

"I believe in home rule, and I am uncompromisingly in favor of St. Louis controlling its own internal affairs."

"For years Mayor Kiel has demanded home rule of Democratic state administrations; but with his party in complete control of both city and State, he has been absolutely silent on this subject. St. Louis was refused home rule by the State Legislature with no protest from him."

Breakridge, Long, lately Third Assistant Secretary of State, at Washington, and Democratic nominee for United States Senator last year, has written Byrnes, endorsing his candidacy, and pledging his help in the campaign.

Body of Unidentified Soldier Brought to U. S.; 'M. H. S., 1910' on His Ring

NEW YORK, March 17.

IMPRESSIVE funeral services were held on the pier at Hoboken, yesterday, over the bodies of 1603 soldiers which were brought on the transport Somme the day before.

The body of the unidentified dead is known only as the "Soldier With the Ring." His body was disinterred in the sector which had been fought over by the Thirty-fifth Division (Kansas and Missouri National Guard). There was no cross over his grave, no identification tags on his body, or marks that could lead to his identification—nothing but a small gold signet ring, evidently a high school class ring, bearing the inscription "M. H. S., 1910."

Roland Reinholdt of 5557 Waterman avenue, who was a Captain in the 138th (St. Louis) Division, and who was regimental intelligence officer after the Argonne battle, said today it was unlikely that the "Soldier With the Ring" was a St. Louisan or of the Thirty-fifth Division, as he had charge of a check of the dead of the division and the bodies of all dead officers were either identified or duly accounted for.

That of keeping out all girls and boys under 16.

"I think every child able to understand facts and able to understand the principles should hear this trial," he said. "My contention is that God Almighty took a hand in this affair. When a man deserts a wife, a boy and girl as that man ought to be killed. I say God did it."

He pointed to young Jake Hamon and said the father had set the worst example for the child.

Lawyer Brandishes Chair.
"If you are guilty, go on to the penitentiary and wash dishes," McLean said counsel told Clara Hamon when she surrendered. "If you are innocent, the jury will take care of that."

McLean took the chair brought from the hotel suite occupied by Hamon and Clara Hamon, the chair with which it is alleged the Colonel struck the defendant when he was shot.

Kiel and Byrnes Speak on Municipal Campaign Issues

By properly connected with the Municipal Bridge by a southern approach and the coal of Southern Illinois coal fields could be brought to the very door. When that time arrives, you will then make the municipal bridge an earner. However, let me say to you that at the same rate of toll charge on the upper deck of the Eads Bridge, if applied to the traffic on the wagon deck of the Municipal Bridge, you would find that the revenue would be sufficient to more than pay 6 per cent interest on the entire cost; that the city was put to in the construction of the Municipal Free Bridge.

"I am addressing practical and successful business men. You are to choose between two candidates for Mayor. I ask you to treat this election as a business selection. What question would you propound to an applicant to conduct your business, or part of it? Would you ask the applicant what his theories of business were, or what promises he made? Would you ask him, 'What experience have you had?' The same principle applies to the position of Mayor. My opponent, a serious-minded business man, honest and sincere, makes certain promises to carry out an economical and efficient governmental policy. I propose to do likewise, but I lay in the balance eight years of actual experience in the business. I assert that it will take my opponent eight years to reach the point where I stand today."

The Mayor was applauded at the beginning and end of his talk and at the point where he spoke of the use of the bridge.

Substance of Byrnes' Speech.
Byrnes, who followed the Mayor, spoke without manuscript, and was repeatedly interrupted by applause, especially when he said:

"I'm calling the old-time bluff which would remove the word 'taxpayer' from among qualifications to be required of candidates for the Board of Education, substituting the word 'resident' therefor."

As to the Municipal Bridge, Byrnes said he would express himself later, and would "make it snappy."

"I haven't promised anybody anything," he said. "There are some men in the city hall who are efficient, or things couldn't go on. Those men will stay. The inefficient and superfluous ones will have to go."

Byrnes spoke of his two years' experience as an officer in the army supply depot here, where he had charge of supplying 256,000 men in camps with all necessities, and of equipping 25,000 more in three months and, after the armistice, had the duty of terminating contracts amounting to $20,000,000, or the equivalent of one year's revenue of the city of St. Louis.

POLES ADOPT NEW CONSTITUTION ON EVE OF PLEBISCITE

Action, After Long Struggle, Is Hoped to Swing Votes for Republic in Silesian Ballot Sunday.

By the Associated Press.

WARSAW, March 17.—The Legislature of the Republic on the eve of the plebiscite to determine whether Upper Silesia shall be Polish or German, today adopted the constitution of reborn Poland after its third and final reading.

Eighteen months ago a special commission of the Diet began struggling with the question. A constitution now has been completed which the Poles believe will have a favorable influence upon the participants in the plebiscite.

In the event that the upper Silesians vote to join Poland after an aversion of more than 500 years, the legislators have promised the Silesians wide autonomy, with their own Diet elected upon a broad democratic basis, and representing all trades of the industrial district, half in size of Belgium, which has been the object of dispute between Poland and Germany.

So confident are the Poles of winning the plebiscite Sunday that the manufacturing areas which suffered during the war and since, through lack of fuel, are preparing extensively for the resumption of work with cheaper coal, which a victory in the plebiscite would bring.

Special trains carrying Upper Silesians returning to vote left Warsaw today.

German Prince Complains of Allies' "Illegal Acts" in Silesia.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, March 17.—Acting on instructions from the Government, Prince von Hatzfeldt, the German plenipotentiary for the upper Silesia area, on March 13 handed two notes to the International Commission complaining in the strongest terms of alleged increasing illegal acts against the Germanophile inhabitants and those returning to participate in the plebiscite. It was charged that a barracks building devoted to visiting voters was burned and pillaged and that the people sheltered in it were threatened or maltreated.

Price of Tractors Cut 20 Per Cent.
By the Associated Press.

JANESVILLE, Wis., March 17.—A 20 per cent reduction in the price of tractors and a 10 per cent cut in power harrows and plows was announced here by one company at a power exposition attended by 8000 farmers.

Sam Enlow of 2212 N. Tenth street testified that he saw two men enter the O'Fallon street station at Second and streets immediately after the shooting and that they were carrying a man who was one of the witnesses as men drew revolvers and the companion of the man as Whitney shot John Enlow.

Police officers who investigated the murder were informed that $1500 in his saloon to cash pay checks of money in the neighborhood. He had drawn the money that morning and would have checks at noon when the witnesses saw him.

Whitney was arrested at the home of his mother, on Tenth street, when he was out by Mrs. Helen Enlow at 3433 Easton street, the man who had been robbed her of $1500 on Dec. 16. She told the she was positive in the fact, as she had seen Whitney passing her sister's truck.

Whitney testified in half that he had never vicinity of Aren's saloon in the neighborhood. The less than an hour.

Theodore Sadowski, indicted with Whitney in the murder charge, will be 25.

CONTEMPT CHARGE AGAINST POLICE BOARD DISMISSED

Judge Miller Ends Proceedings Brought by Belvedere Cafe, Based on Restraining Order.

CHARGE CUSTOMERS WERE FRIGHTENED

Answer of Sergt. Kelly Says Waiters Went About Whispering to Customers Before Any Departed.

Circuit Judge Franklin Miller this afternoon dismissed the contempt proceedings brought by Joseph Gonnella (Belvedere Joe), against the Police Board and police officials, including Chief O'Brien and Sergt. Charles Kelly of the cleanup squad, for alleged violation of a restraining order by which the police were enjoined from molesting or intimidating customers of the Belvedere Cafe, formerly Cleard's, at Euclid avenue and Delmar boulevard.

After hearing testimony relative to a visit made by Sergt. Kelly and three other policemen to the cafe last Saturday night, Judge Miller said he did not see where they had violated the terms of the restraining order. The police offered no oral testimony.

Gonnella's Testimony.
Gonnella, who is vice president and general manager of the Belvedere Catering Co., which operates the cafe, testified that Sergt. Kelly, accompanied by three policemen, entered the dining room of the cafe shortly before midnight last Saturday, and that immediately afterward the customers, about 150 in number, got up from their tables and hurried from the place, in fear of being arrested.

Gonnella stated that he had asked the policemen if they intended to raid the place, and that they had replied that they did not. He gave this information to the customers, he said, but it did not prevent them from leaving.

Sherman Parone, a negro sidewalk attendant at the cafe, testified that he saw the customers leaving in haste and heard some of them say, "The police again," and "Another raid." He was asked, on cross-examination, if it was not one of his duties to tell customers where they could obtain liquor, and he replied that it was not.

Kelly's Reply to Charge.

In a written reply to Gonnella's charge, Sergt. Kelly stated that he and Patrolmen Garvey, Forthman and Schreiber, all in civilian attire, visited the cafe at 11:30 p. m. Saturday, paid the price of admission to see the vaudeville show, which was 50 cents and war tax, and were ushered to a seat on the balcony by Gonnella himself, who greeted Kelly by name.

The answer further asserts that Gonnella asked the policemen if they were ready to be served and offered to send a waiter to their table. They told him, according to the answer, that they were waiting for friends.

The friends arrived soon afterward, the answer states, and soft drinks were ordered and served. Several waiters went from one table to another on the main floor, according to the answer, and whispered to the customers, after which the customers looked up at the balcony where the officers were seated, and then began leaving the cafe. Kelly stated that he recognized several of the women customers, but that he said nothing to anyone in the place and made no attempt to interfere with the business of the cafe.

Says Attorney Cautioned Him.
Kelly also stated in his answer that when he and the other officers had seated themselves Blodgett Priest, one of the attorneys representing the Belvedere Cafe, approached the table and asked him what he was doing there. Kelly stated that he replied that he was there merely as a customer, and that Priest cautioned him that he had "better be careful."

PAINTER DIES FROM BURNS

John McKinley, 72 years old, a painter, of 8619A Maple avenue, died yesterday at the city hospital from burns.

He was cleaning paint off a door at 3111 Sheridan avenue with a blow torch last Monday afternoon, when a pile of papers near him caught fire from the torch. In attempting to extinguish the blaze, his overalls caught fire and were burned from his body.

The funeral will be at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the home. He is survived by a wife and three daughters, Miss Elenora McKinley, Mrs. Charles H. Johnson and Mrs. Harry Claudy.

WITNESSES PICTURE ARMY OF EAVESDROPPERS

Neighbors Form Background in Scene in Which Mrs.
Stokes Is a Principal.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Without a trial of W. E. D. Stokes' wife for divorce yesterday told of afternoon tea in the apartment of Edgar T. Wallace at 13 East 55th street, with Mrs. Stokes Wallace in the foreground and the background an army of eavesdroppers, servants and neighbors.
When present plans are changed,
Mrs. Stokes will have completed his verdict of the domestic drama at the end of today's session, Counsel for Mrs. Stokes will then ask for adjustment to check up the stories of the witnesses. White witnesses presented the bedroom tea scene, Mrs. Stokes' counsel presented an investigation of the millionaire's trump witnesses, Mrs.

Zenas Matossian (observer of the Wallace bedroom from the roof coping) and Mrs. Genevieve La Croix de Anquins. Mrs. de Anquins swore she entered the Wallace apartment and found Mrs. Stokes and the co-respondent.

The story of tea-sipping was related yesterday by Miss Agriola Byers, formerly a waitress in a tea-room near the Wallace home. She said she had seen Mrs. Stokes in Wallace's bedroom "at least a dozen times." Wallace, she said, ordered tea brought up to the room.

"When you took these meals, as you say, to Mr. Wallace's bedroom, who was there?" she was asked.

"Mrs. Stokes was there in the room."

Joseph Thornton, formerly an employe of the apartment house, swore he called taxicabs for Mrs. Stokes.
He identified Mrs. Stokes as the woman who called at the Wallace apartment.

MINE BUREAU URGES NATIONAL SUPERVISION OVER EXPLOSIVES

Ease With Which Explosives May Be Obtained Declared to Be Aid to Safeblowers.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 17.—Withdrawal of supervision over the manufacture and sale of explosives with the repeal by Congress of war legislation has made it easy for anarchists, safeblowers and others to obtain explosives for illegal purposes, said a statement issued today
by the Bureau of Mines.

In urging legislation to control
the handling as well as the manufacture and sale of explosives, the bureau announced that the United States is practically the only civilized Government in the world that fails to exercise a national supervision over explosives and declared it is easier to obtain explosives in this country than in any other.

Large stores of explosives, the statement said, have been found within the limits of cities and towns where an explosion might cause loss of life and property. State convicts have been known to hide dynamite which they had for road work to be used for safe blowing when their terms expired.

The dynamiting of fish, bomb outrages and loss of life from miners and others taking explosives into their homes were pointed to as some of the results of lack of supervision.

Chicago Lines Earned $12,000,000.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 17.—Earnings of $12,000,000 under an 8-cent fare are shown by the annual report of the Chicago City Railways, the surface lines, for the fiscal year ending Jan. 31, 1921, made public today. Gross earnings of $35,227,384 and expenses of $43,390,309 were reported. These figures compare with earnings of approximately $10-600,000 in the preceding year.

Jellcoo, Wants Far Eastern Fleet.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, March 17.—Premier Lloyd George confirmed in the House of Commons yesterday, in response to a question, that Admiral Viscount Jellicoe, now Governor of New Zealand, in his report after his visit to Australia, asked for a far Eastern fleet of the latest type. This, Admiral Jellicoe advised, should consist of eight battleships, eight battle cruisers, 10 light cruisers, 40 destroyers and 38 submarines, to be provided by 1924.

All Fat People Should Know This

The world owes a debt of gratitude to the author of the now famous Marmole Prescription, and is still more indebted for the reduction of this harmful, effective obesity remedy to tablet form. Marmole Prescription Tablets (M.C. or M.W.) are obtained at all drug stores, or by writing direct to Marmole (Co.), 100 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., and their reasonable price (one dose for a box) leaves no excuse for dieting or violent exercise for the reduction of the overall body to normal proportions.

Wives of New Cabinet Members Chief Interest of Washington Society

Several of Them Are Well Known but Others Are the Subject of Many Inquiries as to Their Promise as Hostesses.

By ZONA GALE

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Society in Washington is bristling with interest in the new Cabinet. While there are several members in the list who are well-known in Washington society, there are others who are not known to it at all. Society's first thought in inauguration periods is for the women members of the incoming official families. What sort of coming official families? Are they of women are they? Are they wealthy, fond of society? Have they young people in the family and will they maintain an establishment here or will they be content with Hotel life?

The new Cabinet promises well from a social standpoint. Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Weeks, Mrs. Fall and Mrs. Hoover are well known. The other hostesses, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Denby, Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Davis, will come as strangers. Mrs. Daugherty will not come at all, being almost a confirmed invalid. Mellon is divorced.

Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, wife of the new Secretary of State, is returning to a large circle of old friends made during Hughes's term as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. The family of Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will consist of their two younger daughters, Catherine, who has recently completed her college course at her mother's alma mater, Wellesley, and Elizabeth, who will enter the Cathedral School here, where her elder sister, Helen, who died two years ago, and Catherine also were students.

Mrs. Hughes of Conservative Type.
Mrs. Hughes will come into the Cabinet circle, in fact will be the "premier" of the hostesses of that circle with the poise and the grace which are essentials and with the added advantage of knowing what her social duties are and how to discharge them. Mrs. Hughes is the distinctively conservative type. She dislikes glitter and show. Mrs. Hughes was before her marriage Miss Antoinette Carter, a daughter of Judge Carter. She was born in Milwaukee and was quite a small child when her parents removed to New York.

The new Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks, like the Secretary of State and Mrs. Hughes, dislike publicity. Mrs. Weeks even more than Mrs. Hughes. During her husband's service in the Senate she never grew accustomed to the publicity into which the position naturally throws every senatorial family. She kept to her own circle of personal friends, never permitting her own or her daughter's photographs to get into the papers, and kept all knowledge of her entertainments within the little circle with which she was identified.

Their only daughter was Miss Katherine Weeks. Miss Weeks was introduced to society while her father was Senator, and married during that time. She is now Mrs. John W. Davidge, wife of one of the young lawyers of the city, and son of the late Judge Walter D. Davidge, a leading jurist of the city. They live in a handsome apartment at 2139 Wyoming avenue, and are identified with the old resident set of fashionable society.

Andrew W. Mellon, the new secretary of the Treasury, will have for his hostess here his young daughter, Alice, who is about eighteen. She probably will be the most interesting member of this new coterie of officialdom, as she will fall heir to an enormous fortune. She probably will not only be a Cabinet bud during her first season here, but like the former Miss Nono McAdoo, will be a charming young Cabinet hostess. Her mother formerly was Miss Nora McMullin of Hertfordshire, England, where her marriage took place in 1900.

Miss Mellon's chaperon at home is Miss Alice Sylvester, who acts as hostess of Mellon's splendid place at Oak Ridge, a suburb of Pittsburgh. Paul Mellon, the only son of the new secretary is at the Western University of Pennsylvania, his father's alma mater. Mellon is expected to take a house in Washington at once and maintain an establishment in keeping with his Pittsburgh home, his wealth and his position in this administration. The family are Presbyterians.

The new Postmaster-General and Mrs. Will H. Hayes will be the youngest of the Cabinet circle, the former being but 41 years old and his wife some years younger. She is Miss Helen Louise Thomas, a daughter of Judge Thomas of Crawfordsville, Ind. The Hays family will come to Washington with enthusiasm for the life. They have but one child, a boy in his sixth year, the pride and delight of his father, for whom he is named.

Detroit has come into the limelight again with another Secretary of the Navy in Edwin Denby, who will find the post once filled by Senator Truman H. Newberry of that city. Denby was Hoosier born and Chinese bred. He first saw the light of day in Evansville, Ind., and went with the family to China when he was fourteen, his father being sent there as United States Minister. After seven years the family returned to this country. He graduated in law from the University of Michigan in 1906, and settled in Detroit. Edwin Denby is well known in Washington society, where he was an important factor during the several terms he served in Congress. He was then "an eligible party," a wealthy bachelor, in official life and with distinct social prestige.

Denby was married a few weeks after his service in Congress expired in March, 1911, to Miss Marion Thurber, daughter of the private secretary to President Cleveland during the latter's second term. She has not been known in Washington since she was a little girl, when she obtained the foundation of her education in the kindergarten conducted in the White House for the Cleveland children and one or two other children. Mrs. Denby is a charming and cultivated woman and they will take a house in Washington and do all that is expected of a Cabinet minister and his family, socially.

Denbys Have Two Children.
Their children are Edwin, 8 years old, and Marion, 6, named for her mother. She and Marion Cleveland, President and Mrs. Cleveland's second daughter, were named for the village on Buzzard's Bay near which both were born. The Denbys are Episcopalians and members of the leading clubs of Detroit. Denby is also a Mason. They have a beautiful home at Birmingham, one of the suburbs of Detroit.

Senator Albert B. Fall of New Mexico, the new Secretary of the Interior, will bring an interesting family into the Cabinet circle. The Fall family have been in deep mourning for several years for the eldest daughter, Mrs. Everhart, and for their only son, Jack Fall, both victims of influenza in its first year. Senator and Mrs. Fall have two other daughters, both married. Mrs. Harold C. Chase, formerly Miss "Alec" Fall, and Mrs. Brandt F. Elliott of Fort Conway, Va., formerly Miss Joutett Fall, both prominent in Washington society several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase have made their home in Arizona since their marriage, but are about to take up their permanent residence in El Paso, Tex.

Des Moines, Ia., will again be represented in the Department of Agriculture, Secretary and Mrs. Henry C. Wallace will well uphold the late James Wilson, and the recent Secretary, Edwin Meredith. The new Secretary is a real disciple of former Secretary Wilson, who holds the longest Cabinet service on record, that of 12 years in the same position. His large and interesting family accompanied him to Washington this week to see him take the oath of office and to spend the spring season. In the party there are Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacLay of Detroit; the Misses Mary and Ruth, and three sons, John B., Henry A. and James Wilson Wallace.

Hoovers Widely Known.
The new Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Hoover are returning to a wide circle of friends made during war days, when Hoover taught the country how to eat economically and quite as well as formerly. They had a handsome home at 1701 Massachusetts avenue where they gave many dinner parties with distinction.

Whitlow, whose client, Jackson Wagoner of Cedar City, was given a verdict of $70 against Bryan Kenny, by a jury in the Justice Court of W. A. Murphy at Cedar City. Whitlow asked for $80 damages for his man.

The defense of Kenny was that the dog had killed his sheep. The hound was killed early in January while a fox hunt was on, and, according to Whitlow, the dog was hot on the trail of a fox at the time his life was snuffed out. Kenny has decided to fight the case to the end and has filed a bond of $250 for an appeal to the Callaway County Circuit Court. The trial attracted a great deal of attention and the schoolhouse in which the hearing was held could not hold the crowd, many listening to the testimony through open windows of the building.

SAYS IRISH FIGHT DRAINS BLOOD OF WHITE RACE

Public Welfare Supervisor of New York Says Way Is Opened for Orient to Conquer West.

The struggle between England and Ireland is draining the blood of the white race, and opening the way for the Orient to conquer the Western world, declared Bird S. Coler, Supervisor of Public Welfare in New York, at a luncheon given today by the Chamber of Commerce, at Hotel Statler, in observance of "Irish day."

The speaker quoted from a recent article in the Forum, by George Brandes, author and historian, in which Brandes writes that the white race has sealed its doom by a thousand years of bloody internal wars, and is now confronting the prospect of being submerged by the yellow and brown races.

"Mind of Asia Not Asleep," declaring that he did not entirely agree with the writer, Coler added: "We must not think that the mind of Asia is asleep to what has been going on in Europe. We must assume that the statesmen of the Orient know that now is the hour when Europe is the weakest. We may believe, however, that no Oriental statesman yet thinks the time is ripe for the East to strike for the domination of the world. That opportunity will come only if Europe continues to weaken herself—if the bitterness that now rages abroad, and has some reactions here, continues."

"I am in St. Louis to make an appeal for the suffering in Ireland. I realize that in a sense the present situation is a question not of American politics, but as a white man who does not want to see the doleful prophecy of Mr. Brandes fulfilled, I cannot but feel a concern in a battle in which Europeans are slaughtering Europeans and hatreds are being engendered."

Appeal for Relief.

"It seems to me that the time is coming, and must soon arrive, when the people of England will consider whether it is worth while to engage in a bitter warfare with the people of a neighboring island while inscrutable Asia looks on. It seems to me that Europe must soon return to its political senses, as I think we are returning to our own, and that when the day comes England will not regret what we are now doing to keep from starvation the victims of the war that is going on so relentlessly under her own flag. We must have an interest in this Irish question because when the assault of the Orient comes, if it shall come, America must stand as the bulwark of the civilization to which Ireland and England, and every other white race has contributed."

"Let us, therefore, in the hope that peace will soon come abroad, give generously for the relief of women and children whose breadwinners have been deprived of a means of earning a livelihood, whose homes have been destroyed. They are of a race whose aid and counsel we shall need in the upbuilding which is to again make the world of white men the triumphant civilization of the world."

"If we do our duty in alleviating the suffering that attends Ireland's struggle for freedom, we shall have done our part in sustaining the morale of the white race, and in preventing the realization of the gloomy prophecy of Mr. Brandes. And while we are still in the mood to do that we may put away from us the thought that civilization is a failure, and that the Caucasian is played out."

FRENCH WERE FIRST MISSOURI FARMERS, SAYS DEAN MUMFORD

Had Little But Were Satisfied—Cost of Living Was Low.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 17.—"A Century of Missouri Agriculture," in which F. B. Mumford, dean of the Missouri Agricultural College, tells of the marvelous development of farming in this State, also shows figures on the cost of living in the early days of Missouri, which are interesting when compared with the prices of today.

Dean Mumford says that the French were the first farmers in Missouri. They settled in the eastern part of the State and land grants were made to them by the Governor. The most common plan of allotment was to grant to each farmer a building lot in the village with land adjacent in the country. The land was granted without pecuniary returns of any kind.

The most important implement used in the pioneer days was an ax made by the local blacksmith. Plows were constructed of wood by a carpenter, except the point, which was made of iron. Grain was cut with a sickle and afterwards threshed with a flail.

At 62 cents a day for labor an acre could be cleared for $6. A 15-pound turkey cost only 12½ cents. Board and lodging could be had for $1 a week. The early pioneer made his own boots and his wife made his clothes. Most of the farmers had orchards and brandy was sold for 30 cents a gallon.

From the period from 1830 to 1860 a transformation came about. The farmer wanted to produce wealth, agricultural machinery was invented, transportation was developed.

tinguished guests, and where Mrs. Hoover frequently gave luncheons demonstrating what she had studied out in food economies. The Hoovers leased the quaint little cottage "In the Woods" belonging to Mr. and Mrs. David Fairchild of Washington, which is tucked away in a forest of beautiful trees and a tangle of bushes, the only spot cleared being the actual ground for the house, which is easily a mile from the public road. Here they entertained their friends and the friends of their

Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the Secretary of Labor, is an attractive little woman, a native of Pittsburgh and the mother of two children. She was formerly Miss Jean Redonbaugh. She has a boy of 6 years and a tiny girl, a baby in arms. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are entire strangers in Washington, but have already made friends.

Another appointment which has great interest in Washington, especially the young man, is that of Theodore Roosevelt to be Assistant Secretary of the Navy. The new Assistant Secretary was a boy in the White House during the regime of his father as President, though he was at school at Exeter and then at Harvard during the greater part of the seven years. He and his attractive wife, Nicholas Longworth, until they find a suitable house.

Mrs. Roosevelt before her marriage was Miss Eleanor B. Alexander, daughter of the late Charles B. Alexander, of Tuxedo and New York. They have a family of four children. Mrs. Roosevelt is a sister of Mrs. Sheldon Whitehouse, a bride of last autumn. Both the new Assistant Secretary of the Navy and his wife were among the most active of the war workers, and in the last campaign, Mrs. Roosevelt is a progressive woman with a keen interest in suffrage.

FIREMAN HURT WHEN THROWN FROM TRUCK

Man Held on Charge of Driving Car While Intoxicated After Three Collisions.

Walter O. Heiser, 35, of 3726 Oregon avenue, a fireman attached to Engine Company No. 49, was thrown from the truck of that company as it turned out of the engine house at 3523 Magnolia avenue yesterday, falling on his head. He was taken home, where doctors said he had suffered concussion of the brain, and a probable fracture of the skull. His condition is critical.

Accused of Operating Car While Under Influence of Liquor.

James E. Hillerman, 50, of 3542 Maffitt avenue, was arrested last night when an automobile he was driving had damaged three other automobiles parked along Ninth street between St. Charles street and Washington avenue. City dispensary doctors, after examining Hillerman, ordered him taken to the city hospital to be treated for alcoholism.

A warrant charging him with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor was issued. The machine damaged in the collision belonged to Henry Uebauer, 4511 Washington boulevard; Chevrolet Motor Co., and Berry Commission Co., 515 North Fourth street.

Miss Margaret Stodgill, 40, of 7076 Mardel avenue, a milliner, suffered a fractured skull at 6 p. m. when knocked down by an automobile driven by Peter Berrie, 5079 Enright avenue, at Eighteenth and Locust streets. Police reported Miss Stodgill walked in the path of the machine after the traffic officer at the corner had given Berrie the right-of-way.

Hilmer Gerhardt, 5, of 4009 North Twenty-third street, was knocked down when he ran into the rear fender of an automobile driven by Crawford Johnson of 504 Chamberlain avenue, at Twenty-third street and Bremen avenue, at 6 p. m. He suffered a fractured skull and scalp wounds.

Edward Eiken, 15, of 302 West Marceau street, and Raymond Schaefer, 14, of 510 West Marceau street, were cut and bruised at 4 p. m. when knocked from a bicycle, on which both were riding, in collision with a truck driven by Philip J. Danner, 5237 Alabama avenue, at Alabama avenue and Itaska street.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL HEARS POSTAL EMPLOYEES' VIEWS

Urges Men to Seek "Constructive Criticism and Invite Legitimate Complaints."

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Views of postal employees on the broad question of policy affecting the personnel of the service were presented to Postmaster-General Hays yesterday at a conference with national representatives of organized postal employees. The Postmaster-General, at whose invitation the conference was held, expressed the hope that frequent meetings might be held between representatives of the employees and departmental officials to facilitate adjustment of all differences.

"The battle is won in the heart of the soldier," said Hays. "Three hundred thousand men are engaged in this enterprise and we are going to have 300,000 partners; the Postoffice Department is not an institution for profit or politics; it is an institution for service and it is the President's purpose that every effort shall be made to improve that service."

In a notice issued by the Post master-General he urged upon all postmasters the desirability of participating in civic activities of their respective communities as a means of disseminating general postal information and soliciting the co-operation of the public. Postmasters also were urged to seek "constructive criticism and invite legitimate complaints of inadequate service."

ANOTHER DISCOVERY BY C. COLUMBUS CARTER

Negro Policeman Suspended Pending Investigation Started
by Regalia "Salesman."

Special Police Officer Addison Logan, a negro, has been suspended pending investigation of graft charges, and Lester Taylor, 40, 516 North Garrison avenue, a negro clerk in the Comptroller's office, was arrested yesterday, as a result of another discovery of Christopher Columbus Carter, a negro, who recently discovered orders for $4000 for Masonic regalia among St. Louis negroes and himself was discovered not to represent the house he said would supply the regalia.

Carter discovered a copy of a negro newspaper in which the accomplishments of Special Officer Logan in revealing the alleged imposture, were lauded. He thereupon exclaimed that he was being "double-crossed" and to Chief of Detectives Hannegan, made the following recitation:

"He declared that on the way to the Laclede avenue station, Logan said to him: 'If you want to eat, you had better take $40 of your money and put it in your shirt bosom, where you won't find it when we search you,' and that he followed the instruction. He exhibited to the Chief $20 and said that turnkeys in the city hall would verify that he had cashed several $5 bills in sending out for food."

He said also that Logan said that $20 which he also had "would square the case with the Chief" and advised him to turn over a diamond stud he valued at $1200, a Masonic ring and a watch to Taylor, who holds an office among negro Masons. He said that he did this, and that was the last he had seen of them.

Logan denied the charges. He said that he asked the desk Sergeant at the Laclede Station if it would be all right for Carter to turn over his stud, ring and watch to Taylor, and that the desk Sergeant assented. The desk Sergeant has denied giving such permission.

Taylor, upon his arrest, said that it was true that Carter had given him a stud, ring and watch. He said that he thought the stud was glass and threw it away. He turned over the watch and ring.

Horsehoofers Support Firemen.
At a meeting last night, Journeyman Horsehoofers' Union, Local No. 2, endorsed the efforts of the city firemen to obtain an eight-hour working day, and passed a resolution offering their support in efforts to have it established. The meeting was held at the Central Trades and Labor Hall, and was attended by about 50 members.

Women Get Licenses to Hunt.
MERCER, Pa.—Neither age nor sex is a bar to the sport of hunting. Fifty women, varying in age from 18 to 45, have just taken out hunters' licenses in Mercer County. Licenses have been issued to boys of 14 up to men aged 82, ranging in size from 4 feet 6 inches to 6 feet 8 inches in height. A total of 6666 licenses have been issued, a gain of 6000 over last year.

Hugs the Arch

We do not believe in superlatives, but we know of no shoe which fits so under the arch like the Cantilever shoe.

This close-fitting instep provides a wonderful, natural support to "tired arches." You may not have a case of weak arches requiring medical attention, but have you not noticed how tired your arches get from long walking or long standing?

That is due probably to the shoes you are wearing—for Nature enclosed your feet with muscles and ligaments to hold the arch bones in place. Rigid shank shoes (like a plaster cast) have prevented those muscles from exercising, and they are gradually losing strength from disuse. Perhaps metal appliances have stopped your arch muscles from natural action. Your leg muscles would get the same way if they always used crutches.

The nearest approach to going unaided (which is Nature absolute) and at the same time being in good style, is to wear the which flexes as the foot bends, and which covers the foot snugly everywhere without restraint anywhere.

Miss Irene Schilling

Social Items

The engagement of Miss Margaret Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Woods, to Albert E. Hoppel was announced today at a tea with which Miss Woods entertained at her home, 7069 Kingsbury boulevard. The wedding will take place in the fall. The prospective bride was educated at the Agnes Scott School in Atlanta, Ga., and at Washington University. She is a member of the Phi Beta Phi Sorority. Mr. Hoppel is a brother of Dr. Horace Hoppel. He makes his home with his uncle, Forrest Ferguson, of 5451 Delmar boulevard. He formerly resided in Trenton, N. J., and is an alumnus of Vanderbilt University.

Guests of honor at the tea this afternoon were Miss Mildred Brooks, a bride of next week; Mrs. James V. Dunbar, who was Miss Mildred Hess, and Mrs. Philip Sprout of Decatur, Ill. Those who served were Misses Mildred Lucking, Mildred Smith, Mary Belle Woods and Margaret Jackes.

The marriage of Miss Edith Andrews, daughter of Mrs. George K. Andrews of Webster Groves, and Lewis Wharton Thompson of Webster Groves, was solemnized Tuesday by the Rev. Courtney Jones at the Emanuel Episcopal Church. Guests at the wedding were limited to the immediate members of the two families. The ceremony was followed by a breakfast at the home of the bride's mother, after which the couple departed on a Southern trip. They will reside in Webster Groves.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Irene Schilling, daughter of Mrs. A. B. Pfaff of 3205 Hawthorne boulevard, to Homer Hoffmann. Miss Schilling is a graduate of Hosmer Hall.

Miss Marie Reid of 6840 Waterman avenue entertained with a luncheon bridge at her home today, complimenting Miss Geraldine Pennell, whose engagement to William C. Elliott has been announced. Miss Pennell was the guest of honor Tuesday at a bridge party with which Miss Dorothy Specht entertained at her home, 5963 Cates avenue.

Miss Marian Francis of 10 Lenox place departed yesterday for New York for an indefinite visit.

Mrs. Norbert Baumer of New York, who has been the guest of Mrs. Karl Howard of 5532 Chamberlain avenue, departed yesterday for her home.

Miss Catherine Corlis of 4950 Lindell boulevard returned home today from the East, where she spent about six weeks.

Mrs. T. A. Meyenburg of 15 Westmoreland place is expected home the last of this month from Palm Beach, where she is a guest at the Royal Poinciana.

Mrs. Joseph H. Rodas, president of the Missouri Federation of Music Clubs, has called a meeting of the St. Louis members of the State board and all chairmen of local committees to meet at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Hotel Statler. Final arrangements will be made for the entertainment of the visiting delegates to the convention of the Missouri Federation of Music Clubs and the Hyecika district, which will be held at Hotel Statler March 21 to 24.

Mrs. Guy H. Wright of 501 Clara avenue returned Saturday from New York, where she spent several weeks after an extended visit in New Hampshire.

Miss Marian Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leigh Green of 12 Kingsbury place, who is a student at Walnut Hill School, will spend the Eastern vacation at Springfield, Mass., as the guest of Miss Emily Sutton.

Mrs. F. Haensch of 6007 Waterman avenue and her daughter, Miss Alice Haensch, will depart, March 24, for New York, to spend Easter with Mrs. Haensch's son, W. Gus Haensch.

Miss Annette O'Reilly of 27 Washington terrace will entertain with a buffet supper at her home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Walter G. R. Roepke of 5732 McPherson avenue and Mrs. George H. Gibson will be hostesses at a bridge party March 29, at the Buckingham Hotel.

(Aids to Beauty)
A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths, and rarely in more than one treatment required. Mix a stiff paste with some powdered talc and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be exercised to get real delectable.

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It.
In the year of 1891 I was attacked by Migraine and Sub-Acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know for over three years. I tried almost every remedy, but each relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely and with a mild condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them seventy to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case. I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute rheumatism, or the joints rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent, simply send your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it, and it has proven itself to be the long-sought-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, One Dollar, but understand I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when relief is thus offered you free. Don't delay. Write today. Mark H. Jackson, 3642 Clinton Bldg., St. Louis, Mo. Mark H. Jackson is responsible. ANNIVERSARY MASS AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

Crowd So Large That Many Kneel on Sidewalk in Front of Church at Benediction.

Solemn high mass in commemoration of the seventy-fifth (diamond jubilee) anniversary of St. Patrick's Church, 1207 North Sixth street, and the seventy-fifth anniversary of the celebration of the Feast of St. Patrick in St. Louis, was celebrated today under the auspices of the rector, the Rev. Timothy Dempsey.

Archbishop Glenn presided and the celebrant of the mass was Rev. W. L. Shea of the Church of the Assumption. The sermon was preached by Rev. Daniel J. Lavery of the Church of the Holy Rosary and Rev. Martin S. Brennan of St. Mary and Joseph's Church was master of ceremonies.

Every pew in the church, which has a seating capacity of 500, was filled and many were standing in the aisles before the service began at 10 o'clock. When the procession of the clergy started from the parochial residence, the church was packed and the vestibule was crowded to overflowing. People came from all parts of the city, many of them being former residents of St. Patrick's Parish. Owing to the fact that so many had to stand, the larger portion of the congregation was made up of persons who remained long enough to say a few prayers. As they departed, others squeezed into their places and at benediction many were kneeling on the sidewalk in front of the church.

The collection, which was for the benefit of the suffering people in Ireland, was taken up by Congressman Hawes, Postmaster Selph, Con. P. Curran, George McGeary and Thomas J. Coyne, and was contributed to liberally. The money was turned over to a committee of women, who carried it to the office of John S. Leahy, chairman of the St. Louis organization in charge of raising funds for the relief of Ireland.

A delegation of women from various parishes "tagged" the people as they entered the church and quite a sum was realized in that manner. In his sermon the Rev. Mr. Lavery referred to the centuries of effort on the part of Ireland to obtain liberty and nationality. He said that many critics of the Irish cause had said that the trouble between Ireland and England was an old sore and should not be reopened but they had neglected to say, he added, that Great Britain had never made an act of contrition for the many abuses to which the Irish persons had been subjected. He also paid a tribute to "Father Tim," as Father Dempsey is affectionately known, and mentioned the various charities sponsored by him, including the Workingmen's Hotel and the day nursery for the children of working women. Father Dempsey has been in charge of the parish for nearly 23 years.

The Archbishop was attended by Revs. Joseph McMahon and J. H. Tettermeier, and the Rev. Mr. Shea was assisted in celebrating mass by Revs. J. J. Godfrey and Sylvester Cassidy. Rev. Peter Dempsey was assistant master of ceremonies.

ACTOR WHO PLAYED "UNCLE JOSH" 3000 TIMES, DIES

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, March 17.—The death of William Lawrence, who succeeded Denman Thompson as "Uncle Josh" in "The Old Homestead," and played the part 3000 times, was announced today. He had been ill four days, having collapsed when playing here last Saturday.

Lawrence was with the original company headed by Thompson. According to Lawrence's reminiscences there were frequently times when he would go in as "Uncle Josh" during the second and third acts while Thompson took the part in the first and fourth.

Lawrence was born in Nova Scotia and was a sailor and fur trader before he went on the stage.

FRATERNITY LEADER SPEAKS

Thomas Arkie Clark, dean of men at the University of Illinois and worthy grand chief of Phi Kappa Tau Omega Fraternity, a national organization of college men, addressed the students of Washington University yesterday and in the evening addressed the annual banquet of the Washington University and St. Louis members of his fraternity at the University Club. Dean Clark, who is a prominent figure among fraternities, is at the head of the movement against Theta Nu Epsilon, a secret organization which has sought to control campus politics. He abolished it at his university.

Dean Clark, in his university address, spoke about the self-discipline that college men should impose on themselves. He advocated such voluntary restraint in order to produce men better fitted for the tasks of life. At the fraternity address he spoke about the aims of Alpha Tau Omega and its plan to help produce such men. James M. Douglas was toastmaster.

ALTON WOMAN BECOMES LOST

Mrs. Mary Sloan, 70, of East Alton, Ill., became lost in the downtown section of the city yesterday and wandered about for four hours before she sought aid in the grocery store of Harry Oldank, 4900 Genevieve avenue. She was taken in charge by the police and placed in the matron's quarters for the night.

Mrs. Sloan and her daughter, Mrs. Susie Sanders, were shopping in a department store when they became separated. The mother sought the daughter, believing she had left the store, and walked until she was almost exhausted. Meantime the daughter had reported her mother missing to the police.

TWO JURY CASES IN CRIMINAL COURTS COMPLETED IN DAY

Trial in Third Division Hangs Over, Necessitating Continuances in Three Cases Set for Yesterday.

TEN-YEAR SENTENCES FOR TWO ROBBERS

Comment Caused by Action of Jury in Imposing Penalty on Man Arrested 35 Times.

Jury trials were in progress in all three of the criminal divisions of the Circuit Court yesterday, and, although the procedure moved as expeditiously as possible, the length of a trial in Judge Landwehr's court made it necessary for the Court to continue three cases which had been set for yesterday and in which both the State and the defendant were ready for trial.

In Judge Hartmann's division a jury caused considerable comment around the courts when it imposed a sentence of 10 years in the penitentiary upon Christy Dunn, 28 years old, of 1516 Cass avenue, who had a record of some 35 arrests, but no previous punishment more severe than a short term in the workhouse. Dunn and Harry Britton, 36, were found guilty of burglary in the second degree and larceny, on a charge of having stolen furs valued at $1710 from the Sonnenfeld store, 612 Washington avenue, about 1 a. m., Oct. 23 last, after having smashed a show window.

The jury fixed the punishment of each defendant at five years for the burglary and five years for the larceny, a total of 10 years each. The sentence in such cases heretofore has seldom exceeded five years.

Dunn Shot by Bartender. On Nov. 6 last Dunn was shot and seriously wounded in a saloon at 1227 North Twelfth street by Joseph (Rooster) Stoltz, 1429 North Tenth street, the bartender, when Dunn was said to have drawn a revolver and to have attempted to hold up the occupants of the saloon. He was sent to the city hospital with wounds in the back of his head and in his left shoulder. Another case is pending against Dunn in Courtroom No. 12, in which Dunn is charged in an indictment returned May 26, 1920, with burglary in the second degree. The trial of this case has been twice delayed by bond forfeitures.

Comment also was caused by the celerity of the trial of Clarence Whitney on a charge of murder in the first degree in Judge Hall's division. The jury in this case was impeached last Monday, but none of the testimony was taken until yesterday. During the day the trial was concluded, about 20 witnesses being examined, the case argued and a verdict of not guilty returned. Only 20 minutes was taken for the argument.

Long-Drawn-Out Case. In contrast with this case was the long-drawn-out trial of Robert Glassey in Judge Landwehr's court on a charge of embezzlement. This case was not concluded, although it had consumed practically all of two days. Other cases set for trial yesterday in this court had to be continued.

In Judge Hartmann's court a jury was impeached to try James Meze, a negro, on a charge of murder in the second degree. The taking of testimony in this case is to begin this afternoon. The trial of Yancy Hill, a negro, on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, was commenced before a jury.

FRUITS FROM AFRICA IN THE AMERICAN MARKET

Nectarines, Plums, Peaches From Cape Colony's Latest Novelty In New York.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, March 17.—Fruits from South Africa are the latest novelty in the New York City food markets. Several recent shipments of peaches, plums, nectarines, pears and honeydew melons from far-off Cape Colony have helped to keep up New York's reputation for ignoring seasons in the matter of food.

Not only do these African fruits appeal to the palate of those who long for peaches, plums and melons of summer time, but they have a delight to the eye. Strange crosses of peaches and plums and apples have resulted in colors of deep red splashed with yellow in odd shapes that are unfamiliar to most of us. The fruits are all carefully selected and packed in excelsior. They come under refrigeration, mostly by way of England, the trip taking a minimum of four weeks.

The first African melons, similar to our honeydew melons, brought from $4.50 to $5.50 apiece by the box at wholesale. Further shipments are expected about every 10 days from now on until the first of May. The nectarines, plums and peaches have been bringing from $2.50 to $5 wholesale for a box of two or three dozen.

Large quantities of horse-radish root was received during the week from Germany, and endives and hot-house grapes are coming from Belgium. The grapes come packed in oil paper bags wrapped in cotton. Some of the huge bunches received had grapes over an inch in diameter.

Concessions Are Repudiated. WASHINGTON, March 17.—The Costa Rican Congress has repudiated large oil and other concessions granted in June, 1918, to Amoco & Son through an agreement entered into between the Costa Rican Minister of Foreign Affairs and the British Minister, according to advices received today by the State Department.

NUMBER OF EMPLOYED DECREASED LAST MONTH

Labor Department Figures Show 1 Per Cent Loss Compared With January.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 17.—The number of persons employed in the United States continued to decrease during February, the Department of Labor's employment service announced. The decrease for last month as compared with January was estimated at 1 per cent.
The employment service made no attempt to estimate the size of the nation's army of jobless workers, but its figures showed that 1423 firms in the 55 principal industrial centers of the country had in their employment Feb. 28 a total of 1,626,958 workers, as compared with 1,643,233 on Jan. 31. This was a net decrease of 16,275.

Auto Work Increases.
Reports to the service showed decided increases in the number employed in the manufacture of automobiles and land vehicles, textiles and leather products, amounting to 18.8, 8.3 and 7.7 per cents, respectively. These increases, however, were offset by decreases of 7.3 per cent in the iron and steel industries, 6.8 per cent in the railroad repair shops, 6 per cent in chemical plants and 5.7 in producers of liquor and beverages.

Denver, Colo., with a decrease of 24.9 per cent on the basis of the service's reports, led the 26 cities in which the number of employed was less at the end of February than at the close of the preceding month. The percentage of employed showed the greatest increase in Chattanooga, Tenn., amounting to 67.4 over January. Detroit also was shown to be recovering from the general depression, the percentage of increased employed there at the close of February amounting to 34.7 per cent over the end of January. Other cities showing heavily increased percentage of employed included Peoria, Ill.

More Employed Here.
The reports from New York City, Boston and St. Louis showed an increase in the percentage of employed, while figures for Chicago, Baltimore, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Pittsburgh gave a decrease in the number of workers.

Labor conditions generally in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin indicated improvement, with prospects of further betterment, the service's reports said.
The Northwest central district, composed of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and the Dakotas, also reported an improvement, public works and building activities giving employment to many of those discharged in other industries.

The housing shortage was accentuated in reports from Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas and in most cases little or no effort was said to be in prospect toward improving it.

WHINING IS NO REMEDY FOR DIRTY POLITICS, PASTOR SAYS

Chicago Minister Says Action Is Needed to Clean Up Situation.

The Rev. Frederic C. Fleming of Chicago, speaking yesterday at the noonday services of the Episcopal Brotherhood of St. Andrew, at 411 North Seventh street, said that whining about dirty politics would accomplish nothing.
"For God's sake, don't sit and whine about dirty politics and dirty politicians when you make no effort to clean politics," he said. "If you want to keep your own hands clean and stay away from the polls, don't complain about the men who are on the job. Jesus Christ was never afraid to get in the midst of dirt and mud to clean up wrong conditions. The most important things of our life are concerned with politics, yet we neglect them."

ERROR FOUND IN RECORD OF COUNTY UNIT BILL

Clerk at Secretary's Desk in State Senate Relieved From Work.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 17.—
Discovery of an error in the Senate record on the county unit school bill, which probably would have led to years of litigation, yesterday caused an investigation by Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd and Secretary Zellweger of the Senate, which caused them to relieve from work Harry Rawlings of Joplin, a record clerk at the secretary's desk of the Senate.

The county unit bill, the most important measure of Gov. Hyde's legislative program, was pushed through the Senate Tuesday afternoon, particular attention being directed by the Republicans to prevent any amendments to the House bill, which was the measure up for passage, because of a belief that it should be returned to the House, it would be defeated.

Amendment Was Defeated.
Senator Gordon of Clay County, a Democrat, offered an amendment which would have permitted each county to vote whether to adopt the provisions of the bill. The Gordon amendment was the one chosen by opponents of the bill to accomplish its defeat, their idea being that under a local option provision few counties would adopt it. The Gordon amendment was defeated by a decisive vote.

A clerk in the rough journal room of the Senate, preparing the journal before the opening of yesterday's session, discovered that the secretary's minutes showed the Gordon amendment had been adopted, and that the amendment itself bore on its face the word "adopted." The clerk making the discovery had a knowledge of the county unit bill and had been in the Senate chamber during the discussion and vote on the Gordon amendment. He took the record to Secretary Zellweger's office.

Zellweger learned that Rawlings was the clerk who kept the minutes at the time the amendment was voted on and Rawlings was summoned to the Secretary's office. Meantime Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd was notified of the circumstance. He immediately issued an order that Rawlings should not be permitted to keep minutes of future proceedings in the Senate.

Clerk Admits the Error.
Rawlings explained to Zellweger that he did not understand how the mistake could have occurred, and said it was an error for which he was responsible, but which he could not explain. Zellweger then relieved him of his duties and told him he might return to his home, as there would be no further work for him on the clerical force.

Zellweger, when asked about the matter, said: "There is no indication that the mistake was more than a mistake, but the Senate records are so important that I did not feel that we should retain a clerk who made mistakes of such a dangerous character."

RETURNS HOME AFTER 6 MONTHS AND TRIES TO SHOOT WIFE

Woodworker Prevented From Wounding Her by Children—He Says He Had Been Drinking.

Joseph B. Schultz, 53 years old,
a woodworker, who disappeared on Sept. 1 from his home at 2341 Shenandoah avenue, reappeared there last night at 7 o'clock, pointed a revolver at his wife, Ida, 56, and pulled the trigger. The cartridge failed to explode.

His daughter, Louise, 12, seized his arm and pulled it down so that when he pulled the trigger a second time and the cartridge was discharged, the bullet struck the wall about 10 inches above the floor.
His son, Joseph, 17, wrested the revolver from his father and also took, he told the police, a bottle of carbolic acid which his father carried in a pocket.

The family told the police that Schultz had left the house on Sept.
1 after having torn the clothing from the bodies of his daughter and granddaughter.

It was found that Schultz had been drinking and he was sent to the city hospital, where he is a prisoner.

Schultz said today that he did not intend to shoot his wife, only to frighten her. He said that he had been drinking since Saturday.

Taking 25,000 Partners

WITHIN a few weeks the employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) will be given an opportunity by the Company to buy shares in the capital stock of this organization under conditions which are distinctly favorable to the employee.

This stock is to be paid for
from the employees savings running over a period of five years.

At the end of that time it is believed that the men actively engaged in conducting the business of this corporation will be possessed of a substantial interest in the business.

This is but one other step which the Company has taken to make mutual the interests of those who are engaged in its activities and those who by the investment of their capital have made these activities possible.

It is this spirit of fairness ever dominant in the minds of the management which has enabled the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to gather an organization of enthusiastic, efficient, thoughtful and conscientious men and women who are devoting themselves to the betterment of that complete cycle of service which the Company is rendering the public.

To give you the service you are entitled to receive and which it is the Company's wish to render, every employee realizes that infinite pains must be taken with every step leading up to the transaction.

The Company believes that by making the active employees partners in the business, another step has been taken to achieve that perfection of service toward which we are striving.

400,000 VETERANS OUT OF WORK ON MARCH 1

Legion, Operating Chain of Employment Agencies, Reports Situation is Improving.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 17.—There were 400,000 veterans of the world war out of work in the United States on March 1 last, according to an estimate received by the American Legion. This is a reduction of about 100,000 from the “peak” of more than 500,000 jobless ex-service men in the country shortly after Jan. 1
last, and the legion reports state
there is promise of further improvement.

The survey of the national situation on which these figures are based was made by the American Legion Weekly, official publication of the legion which states that the unemployment situation as affecting the veterans “appears to have taken a turn for the better.”

A chain of employment agencies operated by the legion in every state has done much to relieve the situation, say the legion officials. The legion has been instrumental in obtaining work for veterans, in discussing the migration of unemployed men toward the great industrial centers and has encouraged a movement from cities to the farms.

It has demanded that workers who left their positions to go to war should enjoy seniority rights on a par with those of military age who stayed at home.

Ex-Service Men Have Suffered.
Ex-service men have suffered
more in proportion to their numbers than other workers, according to the legion’s survey, because of the operation of seniority rules and efficiency standards. Nearly a year is required for the returned veteran to get back to his old stride in industry, according to the testimony of large employers of labor. Another thing that has handicapped the ex-soldier is his restlessness and nomadic tendencies, both products of the strain and circumstances of war service.

Reopening of factories and mills in the textile regions of New England and in the mining and industrial centers of Pennsylvania, leads observers in those parts to believe the worst is past, according to the legion’s survey. The automobile centers of Detroit, Cleveland and Indianapolis report a slight improvement of conditions. In Chicago conditions are stationary, it is said.

Movement to Farms Reported.
Throughout the agricultural Middle West a general movement from the cities and towns to the farms is reported. The average ex-soldier had little taste for agriculture when he came back from the war. It was hard to keep them down on the farm after they had “seen Paris.” They chose to work in the small factories or stores in the neighboring county seat, where, during 1919, jobs were plenty and wages high. When those jobs began to go there was at first an exodus toward the larger cities.
The legion strove to discourage this.
That movement has about spent itself, and farmers throughout the West now report little difficulty in getting help, and except in the larger cities there are few able-bodied ex-service men reported out of work in the Middle West.

The South reports improvement.
Dixie has been burdened with a larger quota of winter floaters than usual this year, according to reports.
Some are now finding farm work in the South, others are drifting North, largely to settle on farms.

The Pacific Coast, a land where there are the three great seasonable occupations of fishing, lumbering and fruit raising, has been able to decrease the number of jobless veterans by half in two months, according to advices from there. In Washington State there were 7000 unemployed veterans on Jan. 1, and 2000
on Feb. 1.

FUTURE OF SHIPPING BY RIVER POINTED OUT

J. E. Smith Declares Waterways Development Will Make Valley Richest Industrial District.

Some of the prospects which the arrival of new, modern equipment for the Government river service is disclosing to St. Louis are discussed by James E. Smith, vice president, in charge of waterways of the Mississippi Valley Association, in an article in the current issue of Greater St. Louis, a Chamber of Commerce publication.

Smith points out that St. Louis business men of vision will regard cheap transportation by water as the basis of development of world trade rather than a means of cheap shipment to trade territory already established.

His estimate of the importance of the river development to the future well-being of the city and valley is given in the following paragraph: "A string of factories from the mouth of the Mississippi River almost to its source, double-track railroads running alongside, boats and barges laden with freight, plying up and down the stream all day and all night; mammoth docks, ferries, modern machinery, greater production, increased wealth, the Mississippi Valley is the most rapidly developing and some day will be the richest industrial district in the world."

Towboats to Be Delivered. As is known, the river service is expecting delivery within the next few months of five towboats, which will complete a new fleet of six towboats and 40 steel barges, with a carrying capacity exceeding 1,000,000 tons a year.

New Equipment for Carrying Coal. Smith states also that the new equipment for the upper Mississippi which is to be put in the service of carrying coal from the Illinois fields and bringing back iron ore from the Twin Cities will be completed within the next three or four months. He declares that the significance of this fact is the demonstration that it is possible for St. Louis blast furnace to obtain Northern ore at a lower transportation cost than Cleveland or Pittsburgh, which points to the possibility of this city becoming a great steel center.

70,350 Taking Vocational Training. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 17.—The Federal Board for Vocational Education was told at its first meeting yesterday under the new administration that 70,350 disabled former soldiers, sailors and marines were under training on March 1.

GEN. NIVELLE'S VIEWS ON AMERICAN PEOPLE

Frenchman Says France and United States Do Not Know Each Other Well.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, March 16.—Although sincere in their mutual esteem, France and the United States do not know each other well, and America has as many erroneous ideas of France as France has of America, in the opinion of Gen. Nivelle, in an interview in L'Intransigeant. The hero of Verdun speaks frankly of his recent visit to the United States.

"In America," he says, "many persons regard France as imperialistic and militaristic; anti-religious, with no respect for freedom of conscience. It is supposed that our women are light in morals and deceive their husbands; that our men are lazy and behind the times. On the other hand the French army, French art and French thought are generously admired by Americans."

"French residents in America are largely responsible for the misconception of French life and tendencies. The French colonists there shine neither in numbers nor in quality. We have in America a few business men and many deserters and disorderly characters."

"In the course of my mission it was impossible for me to invite many of the French colonists to receptions, because they were scarcely presentable. As many Americans remain in their own country, practically never leaving it, they are disposed to judge France by the Frenchmen they encounter there. This explains the absurd role given to French characters."

A Helpful Hair Hint

Here is good news for anyone whose hair is faded, dry, streaked and scraggly—is falling out badly, and whose scalps are covered with dandruff and itch like mad.

Your druggist can now supply you with the genuine Parisian Sage which is guaranteed to quickly and safely banish every sign of disgusting dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair and stimulate a new growth, or money refunded. Thousands can testify to its excellence; some who feared baldness now glory in their abundant hair, while others who were constantly annoyed with dandruff and itching head got a clean, healthy scalp after just a few days' use of this simple home treatment. Parisian Sage supplies hair tonic. It's easy to use, perfectly harmless, and even the first application usually makes the hair and scalp look and feel 100 per cent better.

If you want to save your hair and make it also look its best, don't delay—begin using Parisian Sage now—tonight. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. will supply you.

in many plays in the American theaters.

"The American is simple, honest and frank. At the same time he is proud and sensitive, confident in his own powers, but fearful of not being taken seriously. He wishes to be taken into the confidence of those he meets, and he gives himself wholly to those he likes. Those who really desire to reach him should cultivate him sincerely, and not leave him to his own reflections entirely. We ought to act toward him simply and in all earnestness, and follow attentively and sympathetically the social and economic movements in his country." Gen. Nivelle warns his countrymen that they should rouse themselves to combat the insidious propaganda in the United States.

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR FREE

Jury Discharges Hugo Schmidt, Accused of Working After License Expired.

Hugo C. Schmidt, 2710 Ann avenue, charged with violating a city ordinance by installing electrical fixtures and wiring in the home of a Mrs. Sternberg, 3357 South Broadway, in March, 1920, after his license expired on March 14, was discharged by a jury in police court yesterday afternoon. Nine other similar charges are pending against him.

Schmidt said that when his license ran out he had no money to get another, and a city electrical inspector told him to proceed with his work without it. Other testimony was that the work was passed by city inspectors. It could not be learned yesterday whether juries would be asked for in the other cases.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight against all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never back sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely passing laws, always be independent and unbiased, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory monopoly or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Real Bill

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 Senate Bill No. 112, sponsored by an organized group of graduate nurses, providing for a State Board of Nurse Examiners, stipulates that said board must consist of five graduate nurses (selected by said organized group), who will govern the character of examinations to which all nurses making application for licenses to practice in Missouri will be subjected; further, to formulate curricula for schools of nursing if the said schools are to be accredited by this board.

This bill is unfair to hundreds of practical nurses who have worked for years under the guidance of reputable physicians and have thus acquired knowledge and skill through long personal instruction far superior to that obtainable in a short period of class work.

The bill is dangerous from the standpoint of public welfare, inasmuch as it eventually places in the hands of five graduate nurses the power to restrict, through difficult examinations, the number of licensed graduate nurses within the meaning of the law. Such restrictions could bring about a very marked increase in the pay of graduate nurses and thus work great hardship on the sick among the poor.

The proposed law, furthermore, is bad in that it would classify as "attendants" many of our practical nurses, who, during the recent epidemic of influenza, made valiant efforts in behalf of the sick and dying in the State of Missouri while a number of our graduate nurses were out on "strike."

There should be no objection to a licensing system for nurses, but to protect the public interest and prevent the promotion of selfish aims (in other words, a "closed shop" for graduate nurses), the character and scope of the examinations should be controlled by the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Helpful.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I wish to express my appreciation of the interest taken by your paper in the work of the St. Louis School of Fine Arts.

This was manifest in the article on the school exhibit at the City Art Museum.

Such a helpful and friendly attitude cannot help but bring us into closer and more intelligent relation with the public.

E. H. WUERPEL, Director.

Chopping Down the Trees.

Would like to call the attention of our Park Department to the vandalism done to fine old trees in the section intended for the Christy Park, on South King's highway, near Richelieu.

It took 50 to 100 years for the trees to grow. They have been annual breeding places for our city song birds. Now boys and foreign vandals chop them down without any interference.

In a short time we won't have a song bird in some sections of our city unless this destruction of trees is stopped.

CITIZEN.

Landlord Agrees With Renter.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I agree with Mr. Renter and with Mr. Another Renter also. The renter pays the taxes. He pays the water license, the insurance. He pays for ash hauling and he pays all repair bills. In addition to these he should pay annually about 1 per cent of the capital invested in the property he occupies for depreciation and about 7 or 8 per cent for dividends.

The renter has a constitutional right to vote at the election to be held in April, if a registered voter, and if he don't fight the man who attempts to deprive him of that right he is as bloodless as a dry-season rural-grown turnip.

LANDLORD.

The Waste of Milk.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Thousands of gallons of milk are daily poured into sewers and creeks by Southern Illinois milk plants because the people do not recognize the food value of milk, says President Brooks of the Milk Producers' Association.

The reason for the waste is that people cannot afford to pay the exorbitant prices charged for milk, not that set forth by the president of the Southern Illinois Milk Producers' Association. Write an editorial on this along the lines of your editorial on "Censorship." That was the best editorial the Post-Dispatch has printed for many a moon.

ADOLPH B. SUESS.

Elevator Carelessness.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

What is the matter with the elevators in all the buildings? Operators will not stop level with the floors. They either are several inches above or below the floor. The other day an elderly lady tried to enter an elevator in one of our large department stores and, as the car was several inches above the floor, she was thrown violently into the elevator, badly bruising her limbs, besides being shaken up. Another lady, stepping out of an elevator, was thrown on the floor and the contents of her purse scattered. It would be better to pay higher wages to careful and cautious people to run an elevator than run the risk of accident.

A GRAVE ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

The St. Patrick's Day that we used to know—that day of conviviality, jaunty green banners and perfervid rhetoric which the irrepressible genius of the Celt has written into the calendars of so many peoples—is no more. Doubtless there will be flashes of color in such observances as are held, but for the most part men of Irish birth or lineage are today primarily concerned with the present Irish problem. To the Saint Patrick of established fact and multiple legend proper homage will be paid, but the spirit of today is practical and grave rather than venerative or festive.

The most pressing phase of the Irish problem today is not political or governmental; it is humanitarian. There is widespread destitution in Ireland. In Belfast 30,000 people are said to be starving, and in Cork as many are in the same condition. The same want prevails in many other places.

Industrially Ireland is paralyzed. Transportation is demoralized. Many factories have been destroyed. The normal activities have been suspended. Martial law and terrorism rule in Ireland. The Irish people are the victims of the warfare waged by Sinn Fein and British troops.

In behalf of those victims the American Committee for Relief in Ireland has been organized. There is no politics in this humane effort, no partisanship, no sectarianism. Its purpose is to save people from dying for want of food. The administration of the fund is in the hands of American Quakers who have undertaken the task because the American Red Cross cannot go into Ireland without an invitation from the British Government.

Many appeals from Europe have been made to the American people during and since the war. Impatience has sometimes been expressed at this continuous solicitation, but America, nevertheless, has answered those appeals generously. It may fairly be said that no other country that has asked our aid has a more valid claim upon our bounty than has Ireland. The point, however, need not be debated. The bitter need of Ireland pleads the cause more eloquently and convincingly than argument could.

To prevent a plague of death from starvation sweeping across Ireland we must subscribe to this relief fund. St. Louis is asked to give $100,000. The committee says that $10 will keep a child alive a month. A donation of that amount would be a praiseworthy way to celebrate St. Patrick's Day. Subscriptions may be sent to the American Committee for Relief in Ireland, 511 Locust street, St. Louis.

CREDITABLE LEGISLATIVE WORK.

Gov. Hyde's message to the House urging the adoption of the workmen's compensation bill as it passed the Senate is highly commendable. All doubt of his support of this important measure was removed by his prompt effort to save it.

Credit must be given Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd's caucus combine for effective work in putting through both the compensation bill and the county unit bill. The Senate caucus did much to establish confidence in its purpose by the effective manner in which it protected these measures from destructive changes and brought them to adoption in satisfactory form.

We indulge the hope that the ultimate results in legislative achievements may prove that the Lloyd combine served the public welfare in all its objectives.

POLITICIANS AND ST. LOUISANS.

"I am a Republican and as such I will heartily support the Republican nominee." With this explanation John Schmoll, who opposed Mayor Kiel's re-nomination, will work for Mr. Kiel's re-election.

As a party man there is nothing else for Mr. Schmoll to do. Should he bolt he would lose caste. The ritual of politics demands that he play the game. His philosophy is that of noblesse oblige: it is that of gang ethics. Translated into action, this philosophy is the cohesive force which keeps political machines assembled and functioning. Without it, political machines would be short lived.

The politician's stake is in the party. His fortune is indissolubly linked with the party. Conditions often arise, to be sure, where party success will mean little for the time being to this or that politician. But ultimately party triumph will yield its reward. In any event such triumph always contains the possibility of reward.

There is no particular merit in the politician's fidelity to his party. It is the practical course to follow. In the present instance, Mr. Schmoll may have a genuine personal grievance against Mayor Kiel. A big factor in the latter's rise, he was repudiated calculatingly, when it seemed to be good politics, from Mr. Kiel's standpoint, to terminate the relationship and arrange a new alignment. Personally, Mr. Schmoll would probably like to fight Mr. Kiel. Political sagacity forbids it.

As a politician, Mr. Schmoll is acting according to his lights. He is neither to be censured nor commended. But what about the vast majority of us who are not politicians? We may have party affiliations or preferences, but party success as such means nothing to us. So far as patronage is concerned, it makes absolutely no difference to the most of us whether the Republican or the Democratic nominee wins.

The majority of us have no stake in a political party. We have a very vital stake in government. If our public affairs are ably and sincerely conducted, we are all benefited, just as we all have to pay when our affairs are not well managed.

As a Republican politician John Schmoll supports the Republican nominee. The Republican party's success is his first consideration. He is faithful to his party. He is faithful to his personal interests. What about the majority of us who are not politicians? Are we going to vote as partisans, or are we going to vote as St. Louisans? Are we going to vote for a political machine, or for the city? Are we going to vote to keep a certain class of politicians in fat jobs, or are we going to vote for our own interests?

Germany has appealed to the League of Nations on the infliction of treaty penalties. But the League is packed against her. The friends of Germany in this country who voted to keep the United States out of the League simply completed the job of packing it.

DEFEAT, NEEDS AND PROSPECTS.

The enabling act, which would have permitted St. Louis City and County to vote on the annexation of a strip of the county by the city has been defeated in the lower branch of the Legislature. So strong was the hold of county politicians that the cause of public right and equity could not prevail against it.

The situation, however, is not without hope. While the next alternative to be pursued will require a matter of some months longer for execution, it offers the way for a permanent solution, while the annexation of a strip of the county under present constitutional restrictions would mean only temporary relief. The same proposition would arise again when the extended limits were outgrown, and the same interests would be fighting it.

If the voters of Missouri next August authorize a constitutional convention—which there is little doubt of their doing—the Million Population Club proposes to submit to it one of two propositions. One would provide for a return of the city to the county, at the same time preserving its present home rule charter. The other would make it possible for the city to annex the entire county, with provisions for protecting from regular city taxation the rural property which would not benefit from city service.

Objections will be raised to either and to both propositions, but while one plan must, of course, be found preferable to the other, either will be preferable to the present status. In this light, all valid objections will be swept away by the obvious advantages. St. Louis is in a well-nigh desperate predicament for want of the means of territorial expansion. In this regard its situation is unique in the United States, if not in the world. It is the law and the practice everywhere that cities shall be the regulators of their own boundaries, and it is usually the case that the boundary line anticipates by the extent of a great many groves and pastures the actual urban settlement.

It is by means of annexing everything in sight that other cities, formerly away down the census list, have crept up on or passed St. Louis. Detroit's phenomenal growth from the automobile industry is something, of course, in which annexation does not figure predominantly. But Cleveland's advantage over us of a paltry 23,000 would have been overwhelmed by the addition to St. Louis of the 100,000 odd population which lives from it and rightfully belongs to it. With our present restrictions we are sure to be passed at the next census by Boston and Baltimore and will be closely pressed, if not passed, by three or four other cities.

Population is not everything to a city. There is nothing to be said for urban congestion. But the only way for a city to grow and not add to its congestion is to expand territorially. Moreover, the world appraises cities in importance by their standing on the census roll. St. Louis took fourth place in the 1910 census despite the fact that its boundary had been without change for 34 years. Under the 1920 census it fell to sixth place, with Boston and Baltimore close on its heels.

It appears to the world, then, that St. Louis has been "going back." It has done no such thing. It merely has been subjected to the strangulation of an unwise constitutional limitation which is now pre-empted over by the usual gendarmes of reaction—the politicians who profit from things as they are.

The next step St. Louis takes should solve its problem of territorial expansion permanently. In the light of this aspiration the defeat of the late enabling act, which would have opened the way to relief, is not without its consolatory side.

Col. Harvey, who has been named Ambassador to England, may not be a Republican, but who can say he isn't a "deserving Democrat"?

STREET BEGGING.

Good St. Louis people, for want of knowledge of a simple fact or two, are being imposed upon repeatedly by beggars who need but earnestly declare the pangs of hunger to open the pockets of the kindly credulous. The fact is that no person in St. Louis need beg or steal to avoid starvation. The Post-Dispatch has gone to some pains to ascertain that there are always plain food and a bed to be had at the municipal lodging house and that all policemen are instructed to direct needy persons to the proper sources of relief.

If there are solicitors for aid who are ignorant of these facts it is a simple matter to set them on the right track. If they are dope fiends or other variety of impostor, the dispensing of alms to them is but sustaining an evil practice.

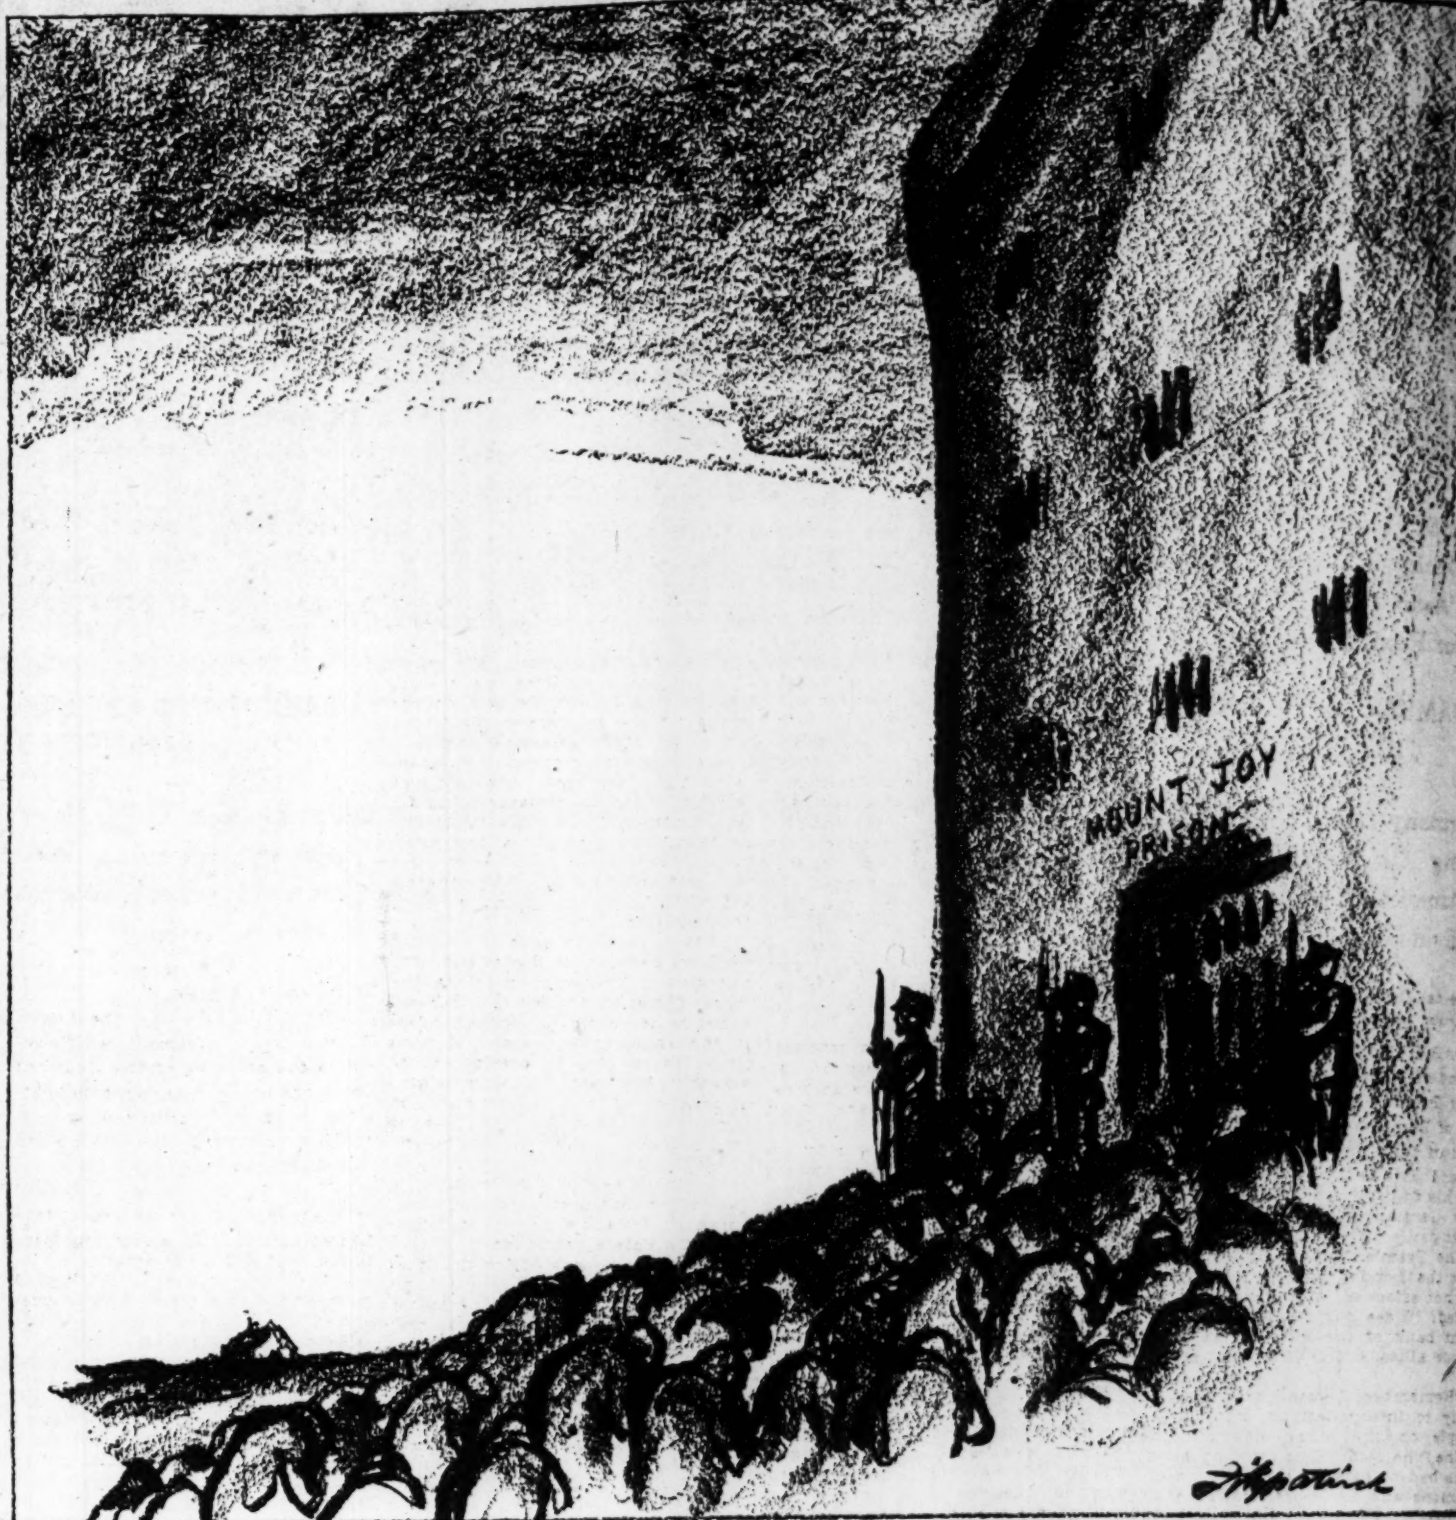

The President is in the depths of contrition over the Madison appointment. Is Senator Spencer to show no clemency to a first offender?

MR. ANTWERP'S OPINION.

"AFTER the fratricidal Peloponnesian war, in which Athens prostituted to greed and jealousy a civilization which was about to flower and load the winds with its beneficent pollen, we are told that they had 'an era of discussion.'"

"That was the era in which the Greek philosophers undertook to determine what is good. It was the greatest intellectual feat of all time, and it gave to us that school of philosophy which Mr. Gladstone says has never been equaled by any other age."

"The world is today precisely where the Athenians were after that war. It has prostituted to greed and jealousy everything we value, and we have an unparalleled spectacle of demoralization, hunger and debt."

"We need an era of discussion. We need to inquire diligently into the ills of life. We need to know what is good, and if we are as sensible as the Greeks we will try to find out. In the last few years we have perhaps heard from every 'thinking man' in the world. Yet we are as far from a solution of our problem as we were when the great war broke out. The confusion in our own country is terrible. Our own Congress does not know what to do. We have on one hand a group of people who urge us to arm. Upon the other hand is the widespread realization that he who lives by the sword as truly dies by it."

"What is the world to do in a dilemma of this sort? If it will read history, it will diligently seek truth. There is no other way. It is quite obvious that our wisdom does not meet the emergency. What we must do, then, is to increase our wisdom. That is what the Greeks, a more intellectual people than we are, decided to do. They had lost the way, as we have lost it."

"A world without philosophy is like a ship without a steersman. We have had no philosophy in the world in so long that none of us ever saw a man who enjoyed distinction and acclaim because he was a philosopher. If we can have an era of discussion, men like Socrates, Plato and their contemporaries will emerge from it. We have no men like that—no one to tell us what we can do."

"Imagine that, and then realize how true it is. We are witnessing one of the great phenomena of history. We stand marking time, having no one to lead us. That is exactly where another civilization stood more than 20 centuries ago. It is the most remarkable fact I know about history."

"Meanwhile, Mr. Hoover tries to keep us from starving. Nobody, so far as I can see, is attempting to tell us what we should think."

The Missouri Senate has passed the Hostetter bill, naming the red hawk as the State flower, and it has also passed the Warner bill, naming the daisy. Maybe we are to have a State bouquet.

If we had made our income tax returns about the first of last November, we would have understood better what Mr. Wilson was talking about.

Since we have all seen the Mayor's streets, wouldn't it be fair to let Mr. Bryn's exhibit a sample of the kind of streets he would give us?

Darkness had fallen on the city, and we were waiting for a street car that occasionally makes trips up Locust street. We gazed up that canyon-like street at the pretty lights. Sure enough: Why don't they? The sign read:

Going out on the car, for which we had waited, I heard:

"By gosh, I'm from Missouri, and I don't purn 'it up. People in my State never git as hound-dawg poor as they do in some states I could mention. Why, I'll bet four-bits there ain't a man in this hull city so poor but what he owns a pair uv six-guns or a gallon still!"

There are no greater business men than the British, and it was only a question of time until they would set political prejudice aside and go in for trade with Russia. They seem to have taken that step now, and while the rest of us are looking under the bed for reds our astute cousins are reopening one of the world's great trade areas. An Englishman is unlike the rest of humankind in that he never gets too mad to see quite clearly where his advantage lies. That quality has time and again pulled him out of a hole, and it will pull him out of this one. Imagine our Congress ratifying the trade agreement which Parliament will be asked to ratify with the Soviets! We are not temperamentally up to it. We have all had a good time jumping on Mr. Palmer as an intolerant, but members of Congress could tell us something we don't know. When the matter of an espionage bill was up, 50 members of the House submitted as many bills, most of them even more drastic than Mr. Palmer thought necessary! It was a fever—the sort of thing subsiding in England first.

Since no Caesar imputes to himself any unlikeliness to the original, we dare say the Mayor is glad to have survived the fateful days of March.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

THE IDEAL NEWSPAPER.

LEUTENANT-COLONEL AMERY, addressing Journalism students at London University, said that the fundamental difference between English and American journalism was that in the one country the reader approached his paper with his vote in his hand, whereas in the other he approached it with the consciousness that the President, when once elected, became an autocrat for a period of time. The modern tendency of the English press towards American characteristics he attributed to war influences. Although for the moment there was a certain difference about matters of high policy and international affairs, and a keener desire for the human element in news, he felt that we were going back to the great problems of home, imperial and international politics. As these vital affairs were again entering into the reader's consideration, so the business of the newspaper would necessarily center around them. Mr. Frank Fox, who lectured on "English-written Journalism," selected the English newspapers of 20 years or so ago as the "classical" English newspaper. The nearest approach to the type was to be found, he said, in the Australasian press, which cherished established English traditions. He thought American influence would continue to affect English journalism, but was hopeful that in time we should get the ideal newspaper—one which would record in clear, good English, world interests and describe and comment on the events of the day without bias or malice.

NEW WOMAN AND HOME WORK.
 A ROSENTHAL in the Modern View.
 As both "Jane Burr" (Rose Guggenheim) and Fannie Hurst are Jewish, we are curious to know if they reflect correctly the opinions or ideas of Jewish women of today, or even of tomorrow. In our opinion they do not. Both of the respected writers advocate complete emancipation of their sex from the awful "thrall" of marriage and home making have imposed on femininity. The Jewish woman loves a home, a husband and her children. She may not like dishwashing, but she has the common sense to realize that with the roses often goes a thorn. The "cure" that our two daring writers advocate for the defects of existing matrimony is worse than the disease. The remedy would wipe out minor ills and bring on major ones.

THE NEAR EAST.
 From the Washington Post.
 It really looks as if the tangle in the Near East was about to be straightened out as the result of the conference in London. The French have made such concessions in Galicia as have satisfied the Turkish nationalists and peace with Mustafa Kemal Pasha and the Ankara nationalist government. The concessions obtained in London by the Turkish delegates are of considerable importance. They include the appointment of the Turkish Minister of Finance as president of the Constantinople Financial Commission, with an additional Turkish delegate on that body; the right to increase the army from the 35,000, fixed by the treaty of Sevres, to 75,000 men; the evacuation of Constantinople by the allied forces; the abolition of the zone of the straits established by the treaty of Sevres, to retain only one position there; the giving of free access to the Turks to both the European and the Asiatic coasts, and the right to construct defenses around Constantinople, including the reconstruction of the line of defense at Tiatlaja. The granting of these concessions is a considerable contingent on the Turks accepting the proposals of the allies concerning Smyrna and Thrace—proposals which the Greek delegates have insisted they will recommend for acceptance by their Government.

GERMANY HAS ABUNDANT ASSETS, BRIAND DECLARES

French Premier Says Allies' Decisions Will Reveal "Astonishing" Resources for Reparations.

CHAMBER APPLAUDS HIS STATEMENTS

Germany Said to Be Building Up Vast Credits in America in Names of Individuals.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch. Copyright, 1921, by the Post-Dispatching Co. (The New York World.)

PARIS, March 17.—Round after round of applause accompanied Premier Briand's account in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday of the report of the London conference. Briand obtained thunderous cheers for his forcefully phrased assertions that Germany had been shown she must pay.

The Premier began by admitting that the London conference's result did not affect all difficulties, but, he added: "I see our soldiers on the right bank of the Rhine with those of our allies, and that is not negligible."

"Remember, I speak not only in reply to interpellations, but to the people on the other side of the Rhine," he said. "The military sanctions had to be at the same time efficacious and no more costly than necessary. From the viewpoint of security it can be said that the allied forces are trained, equipped and, from the viewpoint of efficiency, that we control the greater part of the coal traffic of the Ruhr. The Germans had probably planned to receive our soldiers with revolvers on the part of the workers, but the German workers had understood that we had not come to make war; that the sanction was necessary because of the attitude of the German leaders, and they have not joined hands with certain great industrial imperialists."

Discusses Customs Plan. "As to the customs plan," M. Briand went on, "it was rather difficult to obtain, but the results to be expected from it are far from negligible. The other sanction was proposed by our British friends. It provides that an importer receiving 100,000 francs of goods from Germany pays into the treasury of this country 50,000 francs of it. For this he will receive a receipt on which the German Government will reimburse the exporter. For the countries which have adopted this system there will be no customs duties and the percentages adopted at Spa will be maintained in their distribution."

"If the allies give Germany the impression," M. Briand quickly added, "that they are united, that they will be ready if necessary to devise executive formulas, a moment will come when Germany will discover resources which will be astonishing. Since their defeat the German leaders of industry and the imperialists, have, under the fear of a popular uprising, worked in the dark. They cannot think immediately of imperialistic revenge, but they are seeking to save their riches, while at the same time creeping into the world markets."

Have Right to Beware. "Today Germany seeks to convince the neutrals she is poor, but the day we slacken our grip we shall see another Germany ready to make imperialistic conquests in the economic domain that she has been unable to reach in the military domain. We have a right to beware and declare that the resources in Germany which shall be utilized. We have a right to say to the great feudal proprietors of German industry, finance and agriculture, 'The whole of your possessions are engaged for the payment of your debt. You have mines, forests, railways and works that are making scandalous profits; you must mobilize them for payment of your debt.'"

It is necessary that the German people understand that those Germans who have wealth must pay. The day that is understood many difficulties will be solved. The sanctions will not be lifted on vague promises of the German Government. Already Dr. Simon speaks more reasonably, and I am convinced the London decision will have its effect."

Speaking of Germany's ability to pay, the Premier declared: "Germany has no foreign debt. Her taxes are lighter than ours and her economic situation is better. The German budget has been erected with apparent dissimulation. Germany said at Spa that she could not borrow 800,000 tons of coal, but yesterday she rejected the German proposal and paid tribute to him as 'the sincere friend of France.'"

Regarding the duration of the occupation of the new territories, M. Briand declared the soldiers would remain where they were until the questions of reparations, disarmament and the trial of accused German officers were definitely settled.

Germany Said to Be Building Up Large Credits in America.

DE VALERA, IN INTERVIEW, SAYS IRISH SAY TO SELVES, 'WE MUST DIE; WHY NOT NOW?'

"President of Irish Republic" Gives to Associated Press First Statement for Publication Since Return to Ireland.

DUBLIN, March 17.—Eamonn De Valera, leader of the Republicans and "President of the Irish republic," gave a personal interview yesterday to the Associated Press correspondent. This is the first interview he has accorded to any news paper representative since his return from the United States to Ireland.

If any proof of the extraordinary precautions taken by his devoted followers to insure his protection were needed, it was afforded by the extreme care taken in escorting the correspondent to and from the residence of the Irish leader. For an hour after leaving De Valera the correspondent was under the closest surveillance, not only from his escort, but, as it seemed, from everybody in Dublin.

In the course of the conversation, which lasted three-quarters of an hour, De Valera told of the impressions he had brought back from America, and remarked:

"The saddest thing there to me was to see the Irish question treated by so many people as if it were a religious question. It is not a religious question, even in so far as the difference here between the North and South are concerned."

Speaks Bitterly of England. He spoke bitterly of the "English Government's lack of principle and statesmanship."

"England," he said, "is trying to win by playing on human weakness. As a matter of fact, though it does not realize it, England is playing not to win, but to lose."

"The Irish people are in excellent health, but his friends in America would hardly recognize him, for he is on the run and naturally does not give himself to the public. He is extremely fit and conveys the impression of being free from any sense of personal worry."

Is Working Strenuously. The volunteer who conducted the correspondent to De Valera's residence said that, despite the protests of his friends, De Valera persists in working strenuously daily from 7 o'clock in the morning until 11 at night. The intensity of his concentration was shown today by the fervor of his exposition of the Irish cause and his righteousness and his declaration that Ireland is keeping alive the flame of the high principles for which the late war was fought.

The interview was a complete surprise. Until 15 minutes before it took place the correspondent had no intimation of it. De Valera was in a questionnaire for submission to the President through the same channels as were used in the submission of the questionnaire of last January had been prepared, and the correspondent was proceeding to the residence for that purpose, when suddenly he was invited to climb into the side car of a motor cycle which he had been waiting for him.

Correspondent Examined. Twice after leaving the house the correspondent was held up and examined, first by members of the Irish Republican army within sight of the President's residence, and second, by the military.

When he was asked if he intended to issue a St. Patrick's day message, particularly to the people of America, De Valera said:

"I think the people of America understand, and if the other peoples of the world have not yet realized that it is right and right contending in greed."

billions marks yearly. In five days, menaced by an ultimatum, the Germans discovered resources and agreed to pay during five years, the most difficult time, the figures of the Paris agreement. We have a right to be suspicious and say there are resources in Germany."

M. Briand said the Chamber had asked him to maintain a united front by the allies, and he had done so. At this point he was interrupted by the Socialist benches cried: "Long live the United States!"

The Premier gave the British Prime Minister credit for being the first to reject the German proposals and paid tribute to him as "the sincere friend of France."

Regarding the duration of the occupation of the new territories, M. Briand declared the soldiers would remain where they were until the questions of reparations, disarmament and the trial of accused German officers were definitely settled.

PRESS DIVIDED ON ANGLO- RUSSIAN TRADE AGREEMENT

London Daily Telegraph and Morning Post Express Amazement at Some Features of It.

SURRENDER TO SOVIET, DECLARES THE TIMES

Daily Express, Daily News and the Chronicle Welcome Agreement; Krassin Issues Statement.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, March 17.—The Anglo-Russian trade agreement, which requires the sanction of the House of Commons before it can become operative, is strongly criticized by several newspapers this morning, and especially the covering letter in which Sir Robert S. Horne, president of the British Board of Trade, told the House of Commons that the agreement is "a good thing."

Denies Weakening in Ireland. Denying that there was any weakening in Ireland's power of resistance, De Valera continued: "The Republicans of Ireland, realize that since death is inevitable, there is no way it can come so well as in the grand defense of the most sacred human rights. There is no where on earth a purer or more unselfish struggle. It will be persevered in with the same courage and ardor as shown by the early Christians."

"Brute force and lies—by which your Hamar Greenwoods and their like are making it, will avail only for a time. The Roman Emperors did not win in their contest—England won't win in hers."

De Valera declared there was no truce in the rumors of overtures for a truce or peace or that the Daily Express had laid down new conditions. "There can be peace tomorrow, if England would simply refrain from her aggressions," he asserted. "We have established a peaceful constructive administration and were setting up a noble example to the world. A Government based upon consent, and developing our trade and industries, when Mr. Lloyd George loosed upon us his murder hound, blooded by official instigation and sedulously inflamed with a regular weekly bulletin of calumny and hate."

Assaults Partition Act. Questioned as to whether the offer of full fiscal autonomy would induce acceptance of the partition act, he replied: "The partition act is the act of a foreign hostile assembly; the Irish people as a whole will never accept it. The people, even of the six counties, were never consulted about it in any recognized way. It was designed to perpetuate division and sectional rancor among Irishmen."

While no definite agreement had yet been reached between the Sinn Fein and the adherents of the Irish party in Ulster, with respect to the elections under the partition act, an agreement would not be difficult, said De Valera, when the time for action arrived. It was a mistake to suppose that only nationalists and Republicans opposed partition. That would be proved when the elections came.

Industry Ulster. "It is not so blind to its own interests as to count being severed from its great market in the agricultural areas of the rest of Ireland. The boycott of Belfast goods, which is operating now, is but the opening stage of what would become the complete and absolute exclusion of Belfast goods if the partition act is put into effect."

Declaring that the difficulty of the problem was not the attitude of the people, but the attitude of England, De Valera concluded:

"It is to the interest of no section of Irishmen to keep their differences alive, but it is to the interest of certain English politicians and statesmen who desire these differences as a cloak to their imperial greed."

declaration of the new territories, M. Briand declared the soldiers would remain where they were until the questions of reparations, disarmament and the trial of accused German officers were definitely settled.

Rolla Wells, in Article on U. R.'s Financial Problems, Says Capital Must Be Attracted Before Transportation System Can Expand

Receiver Declares That Credit and Co-operation Between the Public and Utility Are Two of the Greatest Needs in the Situation.

Rolla Wells, receiver of the United Railways Co., in a leading article in the March issue of Greater St. Louis, the official magazine of the Chamber of Commerce, issued tomorrow, tells of the problems of financial rehabilitation faced by the United Railways Co. He gives his belief that the future expansion of the city's transportation system is dependent upon the attraction of new capital. The article follows:

"My financial and managerial connection with street railways came to a close a short period before the transformation from the horse and mule power to that of cable and electric propulsion. After a lapse of 35 years I find myself in a receivership, associated with the United Railways Systems, as its receiver. Just how this came about is unnecessary for me to surmise. Being temporarily in charge, it is, therefore, with some hesitancy, I comply with the request that this article be furnished over my signature. Being thus an expression from the owners of the property would be more appropriate."

Co-Operation of Labor Essential. "During my receivership of almost two years my attention has been focused upon the public utility business in general, and the street railway public utility in particular. It has been brought forcibly to my mind that the old days have been brought back when public utilities were sometimes formulated and exploited for speculative and unprofitable ends. In this I do not mean to cast any reflection adversely. The receiver of the early development of this country and its cities will show that without such speculative promotion progress would have been slow. It is true that in many instances the promoters and speculators received the benefit and subsequent investors have been the sufferers. However, in contemplating the requirements of utility users of today and the future, we must consider conditions as we find them at present."

Railways Must Keep Pace. "If St. Louis is to continue its growth by the locating of new industries in outlying districts, it is evident that public utilities, especially street railways, must keep pace with such growth. With the exception of a pure water supply and good sanitation, there is nothing of a public or quasi-public character of greater importance to the social intercourse and business requirements of the people of a large city, than adequate street railway facilities."

The control of public utilities of this State is now under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission, the managerial operation being left to the officers of the corporation, and in the present status of the United Railways, with the receiver and his staff."

Problem of New Capital. "Interest on investments. Beyond a reasonable return on a fair valuation, there is the vital and present problem of new capital. People will not invest their money unless the investment is profitable and the return can be secured—and we must have new capital if the growth of the transportation system is to keep pace with our growing community."

Transportation a Commodity. "Transportation is a commodity. It is just as much a manufactured product as shoes, or clothing, or automobiles. The same elements of cost enter into its production. Car riders, therefore, should realize that car fares, just like other prices, must fluctuate. Since January, 1920, the cost of materials used in railway operation has fallen not more than 3 per cent. When, or to what degree, we may expect lower levels, is guesswork."

The Missouri Public Service Commission, after an extensive investigation, is completing its valuation of the United Railways Co. properties. When this valuation is finally adjudicated, we shall have a fair valuation of the property officially and legally established."

The commission fixes and regulates the service the company shall give. It takes into account the taxes, injuries and damages, repairs, replacements and operating expenses, including wages. The rate of these items, plus a reasonable return on a fair valuation of the property, enables the commission to designate the rate of car fare."

"What then shall be the future of our transportation system? In its practical operation the service will be as good, or as extensive, as its revenue will provide. Under these conditions, the users of public utilities feel that adequate service, and their social and business requirements, they must be prepared to pay full value for such service."

"Taxes. It may not be a popular thought, but it is none the less true, that if the taxes on the utility are exorbitant, the car riders pay them—therefore, the obtaining of additional capital for the extension of the system most difficult."

New Valuation of Property. "With the new valuation of the railways property, and a fair rate of return, the Public Service Commission is in the position of being able to raise or lower the fare at any time, based on the monthly reports of earnings. The investors must receive only a regulated sum as rental on the money used in the public service. The commission must see to it that the service is efficient and economical operation. It is in fixing and maintaining the certain standards of service, good, bad, or indifferent, that the public must be heard. The car riders have the right, and it is their duty, to insist that economy and efficiency be maintained, since they are paying the bill. The commission will supervise and regulate new stock or bond issues, new financing and refinancing."

In view of this order of regulation following a new readjustment of values, the point I desire to emphasize is this: Will the public be willing to pay for first-class service, and reasonable cost, and by their attitude encourage capital to come forward with the vast sum which will be needed to give St. Louis a better and more extensive transportation system, or, sacrifice good service for the sake of low fares? It is my opinion that the car riders will prefer good service rather than the lowest possible fare."

In Interest of Utilities. "It is in the interest of the utilities and the public, I believe, that the provision of a local transportation system, extending all means of transportation be confined to one agent. It makes for economy."

"Municipal ownership of street railways has not been a success, and the trend of public opinion nowadays seems to be against that form of operation. Inasmuch as I have not a dollar of interest, personally, in United Railways property, and am strictly the representative of the Federal Court, the form the reorganization of the property shall take does not concern me, except for a desire to have St. Louis possess the best transportation system possible under the best kind of management, and that those who have invested their money in the property receive just consideration in the matter of revaluation. Our future growth largely depends on good transportation, but necessary extensions will not be possible until new capital be attracted, and it is largely a matter for the general public—the car riders—to say whether we shall get the new capital. Broad and general appreciation of the situation, on the part of the public, a fair and liberal spirit, must be brought about before our street railway system can measure up to the requirements of the future."

"I am appreciative of and grateful for the confidence placed in me through my appointment as receiver of the United Railways Co., and for the expressions of appreciation and encouragement received from all sources, hence the ideas expressed in this article are not instigated in an attitude of complaint, but solely from conditions as I interpret them."

House and Senate Reach Agreement on Compensation

Public Safety Clause Stricken Out, Competitive Instead of Monopolistic Insurance Provided.

GOVERNOR EXPECTED TO SIGN THE BILL

Measure Similar in Main Features to Compromise Drawn by Federated Industries and Labor.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, March 17.—The Legislature has adopted a workmen's compensation act, very similar in its principal features to the compromise bill drawn by the associated industries of Missouri and the Missouri Federation of Labor, which now will go to Gov. Hyde for signature. The Governor is expected to sign the bill as only his intervention in the House yesterday in behalf prevented an onslaught against it, such as that when the bill was up for engrossment, which resulted in the incorporation of 14 amendments in it.

The House, despite opposition from Representative Elmer of Dent County and Manning of St. Louis, both attorneys, opposed to compensation, concurred in all of the amendments to the House bill adopted Tuesday by the Senate. Except that by which was written into the bill a "public safety" clause. This would have had the same effect as emergency clause in hindering submission of the act to a referendum should its foes seek to delay its operation and try to kill it, as they did with the act passed by the last Legislature and defeated at the Senate under referendum last November. The Senate, at its night session, receded from its stand on the "public safety" clause.

Arguments for Safety Clause. It was freely predicted by friends of compensation on the floor of the House during debate on the amendments, that if the clause were stricken from the bill, damage suit lawyers would succeed in effecting a referendum on the bill. Only two St. Louisans, Frank R. Smith and Goodenough, voted to leave the public safety clause in the bill. The others voting to strike it, were W. Foristel of St. Louis, attorney at law in the lobby of the House near the St. Louis delegation throughout the debate, as did Maurice J. Cassidy of St. Louis, secretary of the Building Trades Council, which participated in the fight on the last compensation act at the polls.

Gov. Hyde, at the instance of friends of compensation had sent to the House just after the noon recess a special message in which he asked the members of that body to concur in the Senate amendments to save time and assure the passage of such an act and Republican Floor Leader Morgan made a vigorous speech in its support.

The bill as it will go to the Governor provides for competitive insurance, both the House and Senate having receded from their stand for monopolistic State and private insurance, respectively.

Bitter Fight Over Measure. Passage by both houses of this bill brings to a close at least the first stage of one of the hardest fights ever waged in the Missouri Legislature. Both conservative and radical among both employers and union men were in the fight, as were the damage suit lawyers and insurance companies, four separate bills on workmen's compensation representing different viewpoints of the several groups having been introduced in each House.

Although the bill as passed is regarded by Gov. Hyde and the conservative friends of compensation as a workable law of advantage to most of the workmen of the State, it is expected that an effort will be made to invoke the referendum, in view of the hard fight made to remove the public safety clause.

Provision for compensation amounting to two-thirds of the workers' weekly wage with a maximum of $20 a week is provided, and public employee are excluded from its operation. As passed two years ago the bill provided a maximum of $15.

How French People Felt Toward Paying Germany in 1870

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 17.—The French press has been comparing the attitude of France regarding payment of the $1,000,000,000 indemnity asked by Germany after the Franco-Prussian War in 1870 with that of the German nation now facing its bills for the world's war.

The Journal des Debats republishes a letter written to that paper in February, 1872, by Hippolyte Taine, in which the famous French historian suggested that "every Frenchman surrender one-third of his revenue" in order that Germany might be paid sooner.

Taine proposed that every Frenchman, whether rich or poor, workman or bourgeois, could make this sacrifice to his country. He declared that a workman by devoting one day's pay each month, a manufacturer by surrendering the one-thirtieth part of his net income, the farmer by giving up the thirtieth bushel of oats, corn or wheat as the case might be, would permit France to pay its then fabulous indemnity two years sooner than required and end the occupation.

The historian had figured that the amount realized from his scheme would reach 500,000,000 francs a year.

The Journal des Debats, commenting, says: "Germany has the example of a people which on the morrow of the defeat seeks to liberate itself of its debt although that people had committed no depredations, caused no damage to the territory of its enemy."

First, to enable the German Government to call upon "asset credits" which it is said to hold through private agents in the United States; second, to employ in favor of the allied Governments the tremendous difference in exchange rates.

Information gathered by the reserve banks was said to show that since the armistice Germany has been amassing credits in United States national banks, holding the funds in the names of individuals. No approximate estimate of the amount could be obtained, but officials said the sum would run into many millions. This money, it was said, was presumed to be for use in Germany's future trade, much of which would center in the United States.

Some $20,000,000 is now held for foreign governments, the weekly statement of the Federal Reserve Board shows.

Bill for Levy on German Goods Not Vitality Changed in Commons.

LONDON, March 17.—The German reparations bill, providing that the levy of 50 per cent on German goods, shall not be effective until March 21, passed the committee stage in the House of Commons early this morning without vital change.

Allies Would Establish 200 Customs Houses in Rhineland.

PARIS, March 17.—Provision for 150 customs houses along railroads and 54 on highways in the new Rhineland tariff zone is made in the report to the Supreme Allied Council by the Rhineland Council, says a Cologne dispatch. The staffs of these customs houses will be made up of Germans, who will work under allied supervision.

French Protest Against Speech by Gen. von Seeckt.

BERLIN, March 17.—The French charge d'affaires has protested against the speech delivered by Major-General von Seeckt, one of the German reparations delegation, in giving his impressions of the London conference to officials of the Ministry of Defense on March 13.

In the speech referred to Gen. von Seeckt said that at Spa and Versailles the French and Belgians had treated the German delegates like Kafirs, but in London the English attitude toward them had been in every way correct. The breaking up of the conference was attributed by von Seeckt entirely to Premier Briand and M. Loucheur of the French delegation.

VOTE FROM PACKERS' UNIONS SHOWS SENTIMENT FOR STRIKE

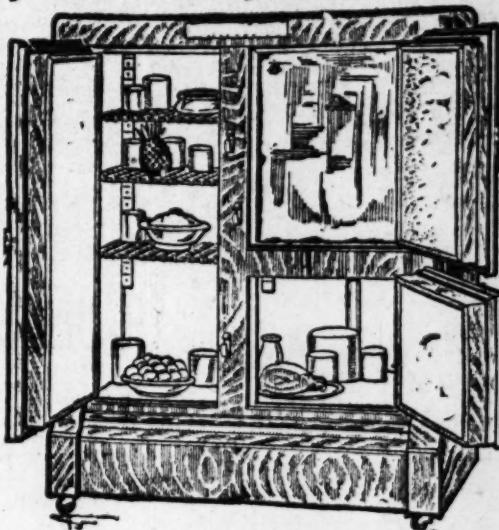

CHICAGO, March 17.—Reports of the strike vote taken at Middle West branches of the five big packing companies continued to arrive at union headquarters here today, and it was understood they indicated a large majority in favor of a strike. Full power to call the walkout was placed yesterday in the hands of Dennis Lane, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Order of Meatcutters and Butcher Workmen, and Redmond S. Brennan, counsel for the union, at a meeting of the heads of the other unions involved in trades employed in the stockyards.

Resolutions were adopted by the other union leaders assuring the butcher workmen of their support, and a message was sent to President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor asking him to attend a conference at Washington Sunday of the employees' representatives. Monday the representatives of packers and employees will meet with Secretary Davis of the Department of Labor.

If— you could do the whole week's ironing in one hour—

You'd have a lot more time for the pleasanter things of life, wouldn't you? More time for reading, for visiting, for shopping?

How long does it take you to do the ironing now—by hand? Four or five hours, at least. Four or five hours of hard work. How would you like to get rid of three or four of those hours and make the one remaining hour easier?

Well, you can, if you have a Western Electric Ironer.

The average week's ironing—

Ruffles and all can be ironed in one hour on the

Western Electric

EVEN IRONS RUFFLES

This wonderful new ironer irons everything—ruffles, neckbands, collars, cuffs—there isn't anything too difficult for it. And it irons the difficult pieces just as beautifully as it does the easy ones.

And don't imagine that you can't afford one. $15 down brings it to you—then the rest can be taken care of in convenient monthly payments. And these monthly payments will amount to very little more than you would have to pay every month to have your ironing done.

City News in Brief

POLICE ITEMS

NINE MEN WERE ARRESTED LAST night in a poolroom, conducted by Nick Calcutt, 900 North Ninth street, when Constable reported he found them playing a game with cards, some of them on a bill on a billiard table. He reported the game was known as "21." A side on the table was kept, the dice and cards were held as evidence. Calcutt was among those arrested.

PEOPLE TO VOTE ON USING AUTO LICENSE FUND TO PAY INTEREST

Senate Passes Resolution, Previously Carried in House, on Good Roads Bond Question.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 17.—The Senate yesterday afternoon passed the joint and concurrent resolution submitting to a vote of the people an amendment to the Constitution to permit payment of interest on the authorized $50,000,000 bond issue for good roads from the automobile license fund.

The amendment was necessitated by Attorney-General Barrett's ruling, six weeks ago, that, under the bond issue amendment, only the principal of the bonds could be paid from the automobile license fund. The interest amendment was passed by the House several days ago and will be voted on by the people in August, when the question of whether a constitutional convention shall be held will be submitted.

Evening Session of Lyon School. The pupils of the Lyon School will hold an evening session, Monday, from 7:30 to 8:30. Each room will have regular school work during that time. At 8:30 an entertainment will be given by the pupils in the kindergarten. Acting Superintendent J. J. Maddox will address the parents.

Your Credit Dies
With You

All the debts you owe must be settled before your estate can finally be distributed to your heirs. Bills are presented which your executor must examine and audit. If you have not left sufficient cash to take care of all claims, certain assets must be selected for conversion into cash. Certain claims must be paid in advance of certain other claims. The entire matter is important enough to justify the service of a specialist in estate management.

If claims are presented to an inexperienced executor your beneficiaries may lose money or incur the expense of litigation.

If they are presented to this Trust Company as executor, you may be sure that your family's rights will be jealously guarded at the same time that your estate's obligations are being faithfully performed.

INGROWN NAILS

Toe Nail Turns Out Itself if you Toughen the Skin

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night. "Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

ARGUMENT BEGUN
IN MATEWAN TRIAL

Conspiracy to Kill Albert Felts Charged—Jury Expected to Get Case Saturday.

By the Associated Press.
WILLIAMSON, W. Va., March 17. The Matewan riot trial today listened to the prosecution's analysis of testimony given in the trial of 16 residents of the mining town in connection with the death of Albert C. Felts, a private detective, last May. One of the defendants, J. C. McCoy, yesterday was acquitted on motion of State's counsel. The jury is expected to begin its deliberations probably late Saturday afternoon.

Judge Bailey read the instructions to the jury this morning.

Capt. S. B. Avis of Charleston then opened arguments for the State. He contended that the prosecution had proved that a conspiracy existed among the defendants to bring about the death of Felts.

"We are not here to prosecute these men as members of the United Mine Workers," he declared. "We are here to prosecute them, because they foully murdered Albert C. Felts. We have nothing against the union; every man has a right to belong to a union. I am a member of one myself, although we call it an association of lawyers."

A majority of the defendants are members of the United Mine Workers.

"This is the most remarkable case in the criminal annals of the United States; it is remarkable because never were there so many men tried at one time on the same charge," Avis continued.

Felts met death in a pistol and rifle fight in Matewan's main street, May 19 last. Before the fight caused six other private detectives and three residents, including the Mayor, C. C. Teterman, fell mortally wounded.

There was a stir in the courtroom when Capt. Avis, in discussing the contention of the defense that Felts, not Chief of Police Hatfield, shot Mayor Teterman, remarked:

"But the fact remains that after 12 days the widow of Teterman became Sid Hatfield's bride."

RECEIVERS APPOINTED FOR EXPORT AND IMPORT FIRM
Action Anticlimax of Spectacular Growth of Company During

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 17.—The appointment yesterday of Federal Judge Meyer of receivers for the export and import firm of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, Inc., came as the anticlimax of the spectacular growth of the corporation during the four years of the war from an enterprise with a capital of only $5000 to a world-wide organization with trading stations in almost every country of the world and with steamships upon every sea.

The receivers appointed were former Gov. Benjamin B. Odell and ex-Judge Van Vechten Veder. Their appointment came at the close of a hearing in a creditor's equity suit filed by the Sumner Co. of Washington, presenting a claim of $60,000 for machinery. In the petition for the appointment of receivers the company's liabilities are put at more than $7,000,000. The assets, for which no figure is given, consist mainly of stock in the company's 25 subsidiaries, which the papers reveal are scattered all over the world. The largest of these are the Gaston, Corporations and Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, Ltd., steamship owners in Canada.

Coming a day after the resignation of George A. Gaston as president of corporation, the announcement that receivers had been appointed caused no surprise in Wall Street. In a desperate attempt to get back to a pre-war basis the company has been forced to resort to drastic reductions in inventories and liquidations of assets at a severe sacrifice.

WOMAN SUES COAL COMPANY

Alleges She Did Not Receive All Royalties Due Her

Mrs. Mamie Stookey and her children, Ruth and Menard Stookey, filed suit yesterday at Belleville against the White Rose Coal Co. to oust it from her land, south of Belleville. Mrs. Stookey charges that the company failed to pay her all of the royalty she is entitled to. The trouble dates back to last year, when a controversy arose between the company and miners, the miners claiming they were short-weighted, due to oversized boxes. Through the officers of the miners the men effected a settlement. Mrs. Stookey now asserts she also suffered through the short weight as did the miners. She has an agreement with the company to receive a royalty on all coal mined under her land and alleges more coal was mined than she received credit for.

REILY MAY GO TO PORTO RICO

Washington Report Indicates He Has Been Offered Post.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, March 17.—According to a report today from a usually well informed source, E. Mont Reilly of Kansas City has been offered and probably will accept the governorship of Porto Rico. Reilly was Harry M. Daugherty's Western manager in the pre-convention campaign for Harding. While in Washington last week as the spokesman of the Babler-Dickey-Morse wing of the Republican party in Missouri, Reilly succeeded in getting C. C. Madison of Kansas City nominated by the President as Federal District Attorney of the Western Missouri District. Confirmation of Madison was blocked in the Senate by Senator Spencer.

FAIL TO REACH AGREEMENTBoth Sides Refuse to Yield at Conference—Dealers Threaten to Fill Jobs After Tuesday.An attempt to end the strike of paper hangers was made yesterday afternoon at a conference of representatives of the union and the St.
Louis Wall Paper Dealers' Association, but failed, as neither side yielded from the original stand, and another conference was arranged for Saturday afternoon.Last night the dealers' association adopted a resolution in which it was stated that the jobs of men who do not return to work on or before next Tuesday will be filled with other workmen.The workmen's contract with the employers expired March 1. It provided for a wage of $1 an hour. In negotiations for a new contract the men sought abolition of piecework and a uniform wage of $1.25 an hour. The employers, in a counter proposal, agreed to extend the contract for an indefinite period at $1 an hour, which was declined by the union, and the strike resulted, affecting about 325 workmen and 47
firms.

Corner 12th and Olive Sts.A right-about-face in the shoe businessSHOE-MAKING is one of the oldest and most vital occupations in the world. For this reason alone many people are now asking if the shoe industry hasn't far greater duties than thinking up transient novelties and swagget advertising.Not in many years has there been so much confusion in shoe values—so much seeking for real service and unquestionable satisfaction.

If ever the public challenged the shoe-maker, it is now.

It is the conviction of the Regal Shoe Company to-day that big views are more needed than big factories and that broad claims must give way to broad action.Action to force down prices—not a little, but much. And to bring to these prices a standard—a code to measure with—so that price will no longer mean merely what you pay, but what the shoe
will deliver.Regal Shoes for Spring sell for $7.50, $8.50 and $9.50. Dismiss price and you find a still surer guide to judgment.
All Regal leathers are genuine. Regal cordovan is genuine horse-hide. Regal kid is genuine goat-skin—not sheepskin. Regal calf is genuine calf-skin—not side-leather.Possibly you wonder what those men with fifteen, eighteen and twenty dollar shoe ideas will think about the Regal price independence. Probably some willsay that the sharp difference in Regal price must reflect somewhere in the quality.But these men forget the Regal command of the leather market and the Regal tradition of doing business on lean profit. They forget that Regal Shoes are made in the community that supplies the most skillful shoe workers in the world. They forget that Regal, through factory-owned stores, has always kept distribution costs to rock-bottom.It is conservative to say that this year a quarter-million men, who are critical and energetic enough to compare, will wear Regal Shoes for the first time because of these new values.They will select from 65 different authoritative custom-lasts. Their purchase will be protected by the full Regal guarantee. They will discover a live, vital policy in shoe-making.REGAL SHOE COMPANY

REGAL SHOES

Made by America's Most Progressive Shoe-Makers
Sold Economically through Their Own Shoe StoresThe "Crest" in Genuine Shell Cordovan of precisely the right rich shade of brown. "Ace" pattern. Leather lined quarter. Tough, flexible sole, walking weight.
Solid leather heel. All in all, a shoe hard to match even at higher prices; reflecting the Regal intent and ability to give real service, real value.

WATCHMAN SAYS ROBBERS TOOK $5300 IN BONDS

Reports Three Men Overpowered Him and Robbed Office of Lumber Company, Then Untied Him.

John Webb, 40 years old, night watchman at the yards and plant of the Hill-Behan Lumber Co., 6200 Page avenue, this morning reported that at 2 a. m. three robbers overpowered him, tied him to a lumber pile, looted a safe in the company's office and then untied him and told him to beat it.

Officials of the company later said the robbers stole $5 in cash and a number of negotiable bonds, and notes, among which were $500 of bonds of the Missouri, Oklahoma & Gulf Railroad.

Webb telephoned his report of the robbery to W. L. Behan, president of the company, who notified the county authorities. He said he was alone in the lumber yard when the robbers entered, and, after tying him, took his key to the company's office. The combination knob was knocked from the door of a tile vault on the second floor of the office building. A safe inside the vault was open. In this safe, Webb said, was a money box which the robbers opened with a key which had been left lying beside it. Five men held up Two and Rob Them of Auto.

William Cornwall of 4287 Ashland avenue and William Lanigan of 2517 Elliot avenue were sitting in the former's service car at Elliot avenue and Benton street at 11:45 o'clock last night when five men, one carrying a revolver, ordered them out and took charge of the automobile.

Half an hour later the automobile collided with a telephone pole at Newstead and Kennerly avenues. It had four occupants at the time, two of whom were thrown clear of the wreckage and ran away before a policeman arrived. The other two were suffering in the wreckage and were taken to the city hospital as prisoners. They said they were David G. Blake, 17 years old, and George E. McKay, 19, both of 2401 Elliot avenue. They said that they did not know their companions, that they were not present when the automobile was taken from Cornwall, and that they had been invited to take a ride.

Leo Sommers of 1922 North Grand avenue and Edward Wagner of 3717 Garfield avenue were held up by two men on Magazine street, between Bacon street and Webster avenue, at 2 a. m. A diamond ring valued at $150, four checks for amounts aggregating $45, and $13 in cash were taken from Sommers. Nothing was taken from Wagner.

Thomas Kotsiaros of 3713 Cass avenue was robbed of $125 by two negroes and a white man in the alley behind his home at 10:30 p. m.

William Pallant of 1126 High street caught a negro burglar ransacking his home at 5 p. m., and was marching him down the street in search of a policeman when a crowd of neighbors took a hand. One of them hit the burglar on the head with a club and he broke from Pallant and ran away, leaving his cap on the sidewalk.

Thomas Williams of 3857 Folsom avenue was sleeping in the afternoon when a burglar searched his room and took $23, a watch and fob and a green cap. Williams' nap was not disturbed and he knew nothing of the robbery until he got up for dinner.

Two men abandoned a huckster's wagon, coop of chickens, a collie dog and a gray mare when a policeman approached the outfit at Ninth and Warren streets yesterday afternoon. The property later was identified as having been stolen from the stable of Charles G. Van Horn, 189 E. Lay road, St. Louis County. Van Horn said that two coops of chickens and a duck were still missing and he presumed that they had been sold by the thieves. He said there was something suspicious in the fact that his dog had willingly accompanied the men who stole the outfit.

Blue Bird Electric Washers

This shipment of these Machines was purchased and should have arrived in time for our Anniversary Sale last week, but was delayed in transit. However, we intend to sell them at the price originally planned for our Anniversary.

$200 Perfect Blue Bird $118.48
Washing Machines at

NOTE—We are not agents for the Blue Bird Washers, but we were offered these renowned Machines at such a low price that we immediately purchased them and will turn them over to our patrons at a wonderful saving.
At this low price we fully believe that the quantity we have to sell at $118.48 will not last the day out.

This machine is too well known to St. Louisans to require any great amount of description; suffice to say that they are the standard Blue Bird Machine and are guaranteed to be brand-new and in perfect condition. Owing to the extremely low price and the fact that we are not agents
we cannot keep this machine in repair, but as it is a machine that requires little or no attention, the vast difference between the regular price of $200.00 and our price of $118.48 will permit the purchasers to make all their own necessary repairs for a long period of time and still have a very substantial saving besides.

SECOND MAN TRIED FOR BANK ROBBERY GIVEN 35 YEARS

George E. Ayers, 26, of Galveston, Tex., Sentenced for St. Clair Burglary—Jury Out Only 31 Minutes

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
UNION, Mo., March 17.—George
E. Ayers, 26, of Galveston, Tex., was sentenced to 35 years in the penitentiary by a jury in the Franklin County Circuit Court here yesterday afternoon for the burglary of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of St. Clair on Feb. 8, when $12,222 in bonds, stamps, cash and other valuables was taken. Eight men were charged with the burglary and Ayers is the second one convicted. Emil (Feather) Tike Schneider, an ex-convict, having been sentenced to 48 years in the penitentiary by another jury on Tuesday. The Ayers jury took 31 minutes to reach a verdict and fix
the sentence.

The State asked the jury to sentence Ayers to 50 years. The information against all eight men charged second-degree burglary and larceny. The burglary charge is punishable by two years to life in the penitentiary and the larceny charge was disregarded by the State.
Ayers was smoking a cigar when the jury returned with its verdict
after 31 minutes of deliberation.
When Judge Brewer read the verdict to him he remarked, "Is that all?" grinned and continued to smoke. "This is an awful kangaroo court out here," Ayers said later.

Will Ask for a New Trial.
Kelly will ask for a new trial and,
failing that, will appeal to the State Supreme Court. He acted as Schneider's attorney also, and is asking for a new trial for him. Failing, he will appeal the case. Kelly was assisted by D. W.
Bredt, a local attorney. W. L. Coia, of Union, former chairman of the Republican State Committee, and James A. Booth of Pacific acted as special prosecutors, having been retained by the bank. Prosecuting Attorney Kasmann did not take an active part in the trial.

The eight men charged with the bank burglary were arrested at or near "Fly's Rest," a clubhouse on the Meramec River near Pacific, as has been told, where the stolen valables were recovered in a sack in the attic after part of the cabin had been destroyed by an explosion of nitroglycerin. A still and a quantity of fermenting mash were found in a tent nearby.

Ayers was placed on the stand yesterday morning, being his only witness. He offered an alibi.
Trials of Others Postponed.
Ten of the 12 jurors in the Ayers and in the Schneider trial were farmers. Because of the inconvenience of obtaining jury panels and the congestion of the docket Judge Brewer postponed the trials of the remaining six men until an adjourning term, May 2.

The other men are Robert (Cokey)
Walsh, Joseph Brown, Charles S.
Barrington, John Maloney, Tom Montgomery and Walter Casey.
Brown and Walsh are charged in a St. Clair County (Ill.) complaint with the murder of Detective Perry Frost in an East St. Louis saloon Nov. 14 last. An effort is being made to extradite them on this charge. Barrington was seriously injured and made almost blind in the explosion at "Fly's Rest" and is at the county farm.

Casey wrote Justice of the Peace
Joseph Schuler of Fourteenth street and Clark avenue, St. Louis, seeking bond after his arrest and he was later released on $5000 bond. When his case was postponed he was driven to Justice Schuler's saloon in St. Louis.
Schneider was sentenced just 25 days after the burglary and Ayers 24 hours later. Schneider's trial required 24 hours elapsed time and Ayers' 24 hours.

O'Donnell Thinks He'll Whip Burns; Perhaps Somebody Has Been Stringing the Fighting Harp

O'Donnell Will Find Wilson No Cheese Champion, Tonight

Even Thinks Middleweight Titleholder Able to Give as Good as He Gets.

NEW YORK ALL EXCITED

Madison Square Garden Will Be Packed for Title Show, Advance Sale Shows.

By Robert Edgren.

(Copyright, 1921.)

NEW YORK, March 17.—"All right, Mike can start loading steamers Friday morning," that was Jimmy Wilson's answer when he heard Mike's statement that he'll never pull on another glove if he fails to stop the champion in the first round championship bout tonight in Madison Square Garden.

It is the hope that comes down from Wilson's camp is right Jimmy's view is worth consideration. There is plenty of evidence that Wilson can fight.

Hector McInnis, who refereed the bout in which Wilson became champion, O'Donnell's expense, says: "It's always hard to give a decision against a champion. If there had been any way to give O'Donnell a 50-0 break after he met Wilson I should have done it. But Wilson has him so far that there was nothing to it. Only a robber could have given Mike as good as a draw."

O'Donnell, war veteran and international champion, as well as former world's champion middleweight, is well known all over the country. Wilson's fighting ability has been shown little outside of Boston. But Wilson was a New York boy and began his fighting in New York. A few local ring fans remember John's first and last main event here.

"It was up in Sulzer's Casino, the old American Sporting Club, Billy McInnis and Paddy Donnelly, the promoters, still tell about it."

"Leo Flynn furnished three fighters for three events," says McInnis, "and Johnny Wilson was the champion of the bunch. He was to fight the second round, but the windstorm happened early, but nobody came. I rushed out into the street with a bunch of complimentary and gave them away, so that we could make some kind of a showing around the ring. I think when the first bout went on there were 15 paid admissions. And you never saw such a fighting night in your life. Leo's bunch was all up, and the few who fought there were no better."

Wilson's First Main Event.

This guy Wilson came up to fight O'Donnell and when I landed on O'Donnell I thought it was all off. Sweeney was a pretty good fighter and at the top of his form. Wilson looked awkward, like all southpaws. He looked scared. Sweeney went after Wilson, crouched and ugly. And Wilson leaned over sideways and hit Sweeney a stiff poke with his right hand that crashed him with his left. By the time Wilson had crashed Sweeney a few times Sweeney was on the floor. He was on the floor several times. Then he put Wilson over a couple but Wilson got up and handed K. O. an awful trouncing. He crashed K. O. for the last count in the tenth round.

Then came the paying off. The boys were on percentage, and there was exactly $11.70 each for Wilson and Sweeney, and $25.10 for Leo's three men. The gate was $117. Leo offered Paddy $2.10 to pay his fight. Sweeney off for him. He didn't dare to go near them. But Wilson took it all right. He was tickled because he knocked Sweeney out. Wilson took his $11.70 with thanks and asked for another hour and a half showing. He was getting from $25 to $50 in preliminaries," he said, "and I get $70 for my first main event. This champion fight will be fighting for $100,000."

This part of Wilson's guess was a little off. As champion tonight he's getting $40,000.

The Sweeney fight, by the way, was made in 1915.

Wilson did a lot of good fighting when he was in the preliminary class. He fought 26 battles in the old Olympic club and won a good percentage of them with knockouts. He always used the southpaw style of fighting.

Wilson uses his extended right hand better than any other southpaw since Little K. O. Brown's time. He hits a hard punch with the straight right, which is the equivalent of the straight left of the boxer who fights in the usual way.

In spite of what Mike O'Donnell says about Wilson's punch the champion must have been because his nerves were too much punched. Shocked to hear the message, he put Mike off his feet twice, once for a regular knock down. He met Mike's rushes with hard blows, and in all gave Mike about as rough a session as he has given since the war. There'll be a clinch either way this evening, at old Madison Square.

Gate will be $100,000.

The demand for tickets has been tremendous. The Garden was practically sold out late yesterday afternoon, very few tickets remaining in the pigeonholes in the box office. It means that what was at the low price charged the gate will run about $100,000.

O'Donnell and Wilson weigh in at 165 pounds each, at the Garden, champion Johnny Wilson stayed in town until a day before the bout, ending all of his training on his home ground.

White Sox Machine, Scrapped by Indictments, Lacks Outfielders, Infielders and Good Pitchers

Manager Gleason, However, Has Strong Skeleton on Which to Reconstruct Another World's Championship Team—Former Brownie Will Get Chance at Shortstop.

NO. 2—THE CHICAGO AMERICANS.

BUILDING a pennant contender from the wreckage of one of the great ball clubs ever put together in the major leagues, is the task that this season faces "Kid" Gleason, leader of the Chicago White Sox. Late last year Gleason's pitching staff, infield and outfield were torn to pieces by the grand jury indictments against seven of his players.

As a result, Gleason, instead of opening this season with a sure fire contender, will have to build anew. This spring the Sox took South one of the largest squads of any club in the majors. When Gleason counted noses at the start of the training jaunt at Waukegan, Tex., there were exactly 39 athletes, apportioned as follows: Seventeen pitchers, five catchers, 11 infielders and half a dozen outfielders.

A nucleus from which Gleason hopes to build another winner for owner Charles A. Comiskey is as follows: Eddie Collins, second base; Faber and Kerr, pitchers; Ray Schalk, catcher, and Amos Strunk and Harry Hooper, lately obtained in a trade with the Red Sox, in the outfield.

So can be seen at a glance that Gleason's task is not the easiest one in the world. There is really only one department Gleason does not have to worry about. That is catching. Ray Schalk is again on duty and Schalk is a "catching staff." He is the busiest little man in either league. Gleason's task is to build the team last year, but got little chance to work. Other receivers are Yaryan, the Western League slugger and owner of 41 home runs; Jonnard from the Southern, last year hitting 23; Turgeon, last year with Aberdeen, is also trying for the job.

Former Brownie at Short.

Ernie Johnson, former Federal League and Brownie, who once before had a chance with the Sox, is scheduled to play short. Johnson managed Salt Lake last season, but these worries did not keep him from hitting 23. Turgeon, last year with Aberdeen, is also trying for the job.

At the far corner, there is a fight on between Eddie Mulligan, the St. Louis boy, who hit 29 for Salt Lake, and Hervey McClellan, who has been a bench warmer with the Sox for several years. If Mulligan leads the job, three of the regular Sox infielders will be former members of the Salt Lake club and will have the advantage of having played together a season.

Harry Hooper, former captain of the Red Sox, is expected to play for the right field job, a position he has covered so acceptably for Boston for many years. Amos Strunk, in center is another who practically has his job clinched. Most of the regular Sox outfielders will be former members of the Salt Lake club and will have the advantage of having played together a season.

There will be only one veteran on Gleason's infield. This is Capt. Eddie Collins at second.

Pitchers Badly Needed.

But the Sox leader will have to develop pitchers. No club can get along without slab artists as has been shown many times in the past. Faber and Kerr are the only certain regulars. Roy Wilkinson, who was with the club last season, is expected to come through as Chief among the rookies are Hodge, from the Southern League, who hurled a few good games last season; McNeveny from Milwaukee and Mulrennan from Columbus. Davenport, a southpaw, also will strive for a regular position on the hurling staff. Tesar and Kiefer, among the others, have had brief trials in the majors, being with the Sox late in 1920.

There will be only one veteran on Gleason's infield. This is Capt. Eddie Collins at second.

HOREMANS AND COCHRAN MATCHED TO PLAY 4800 POINTS FOR SIDE BET

NEW YORK, March 17.—Edouard Horemans and Welker Cochran have been matched for another tilt with cues at 182 at Daly's Academy next week.

The Belgian billiard player was anything but satisfied with the result of their match in Detroit last week. The coming match will be held where Horemans defeated Cochran, will be at 4800 points, in blocks of 400. At the suggestion of the Belgian, Cochran will be twice the size of that for the Detroit match. Also it was agreed a player may mark end-so oblate broken innings.

Holdout Myers Joins Sox.

BOSTON, March 17.—The Red Sox holdouts began to run to cover of contracts yesterday, when Elmer Myers, the pitcher, who was obtained from Cleveland last year, reported at Hot Springs training headquarters, dispatches said. President H. H. Frazer is expected to be at the Springs within a day or two to interview any other holdouts who may appear. There still are several important members of the squad missing because of salary difficulties.

Soldan Meets Graduates.

The Soldan High School baseball team will meet a picked team of alumni on the school's campus tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Several minor league players are included in the grade lineup.

Fohl's Men Pull Triple Steal in Beating Dodgers

George Sisler Is on Scoring End of Play—N. L. Champions Outbat Browns.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOGALUSA, La., March 17.—Manager Lee Fohl and his men today are feeling happy over the second victory against the Brooklyn club yesterday, score 7 to 4. The game was featured by a triple steal, a rare feat for baseball fans. George Sisler raced home safely in the third inning as Al Mammaux was winding up, and Frank Wetzel went to third, while Johnny Tobin took second. The Brooklyn players seemingly were greatly amazed at Sisler's daring. Mammaux opened on the hit against the Browns and, while he held the American leaguers to three hits in the fourth and fifth innings, he kept Sisler from scoring in the third. A pass to Wetzel and Tobin's double gave the Browns one in the second. Clarence Mitchell pitched good ball in the fourth and fifth innings. But in the sixth he was found for a pair of extra base wallops and, together with an error, a sacrifice fly and a walk, the Browns added three more runs to their total. Mohart finished the game for Brooklyn and he held the Browns safe in the seventh and eighth. Josh Billings getting a single to left and being the only man to reach first base in the two rounds. Dixie Davis pitched grand ball against the N. L. champions for the first six innings of the game, holding the Sox to six hits and one run. The only tally for the Sox came in the third. Miller led off with a single and scored when Mammaux doubled. Southpaw Nick Cullip held the Brooklyn team safe in the seventh, but five hits in the eighth. Robinson's men three runs in the eighth.

Pitchers Badly Needed.

But the Sox leader will have to develop pitchers. No club can get along without slab artists as has been shown many times in the past. Faber and Kerr are the only certain regulars. Roy Wilkinson, who was with the club last season, is expected to come through as Chief among the rookies are Hodge, from the Southern League, who hurled a few good games last season; McNeveny from Milwaukee and Mulrennan from Columbus. Davenport, a southpaw, also will strive for a regular position on the hurling staff. Tesar and Kiefer, among the others, have had brief trials in the majors, being with the Sox late in 1920.

There will be only one veteran on Gleason's infield. This is Capt. Eddie Collins at second.

TRADING FEATURED BY STRUGGLE OF BEARS AND BULLS

Rails Show General Losses
at Close, While Industrial List Is Exceedingly Irregular.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The Exchange today was characterized by a struggle between the bears and the bulls who devoted special attention to the motor stocks. In the first hour the bears had the upper hand and were able to depress the list, but thereafter the bulls, with the aid of cheaper money, were able to redress the balance. Trading was active and toward the close the rails generally showed losses, while the industrial list was exceedingly irregular.

Call money again opened at 75 per cent and was again lowered to 6 per cent. The change came at about noon or a little earlier than yesterday, and offerings outside the exchange were again reported at 5 per cent. It is still too early, however, to judge whether the relaxation is anything more than a temporary condition associated with the transmission of tax funds.

Sterling Continues Quiet.
Sterling continued quiet and practically unchanged at $3.90, the feature of the foreign exchange market being active bidding for lire, which carried the usually steady quotation from 3.75 cents to 3.85. The price of lire ordinarily is fixed by the Italian Institute acting for the Italian Government, and the present brisk inquiry, which coincided with the issuance by the Italian Consulate of a statement regarding improved financial conditions in Italy, marks the first slow of a marked activity in this field for some time. French francs were again weak in the early dealing, declining to 6.85 cents, but improved in sympathy with the bidding for lire, advancing to 6.95 cents. Strength in Swiss and Scandinavian exchange continued, while German marks continued inactive and with no change quoted at 1.85 cents, but improved in sympathy with the bidding for lire, advancing to 1.85 cents. Canadian dollars dropped back 1/4 of a cent to 87 1/2.

Cotton Rallies at Liverpool.
Cotton rallied well at Liverpool as a result of the opening up of trade with Soviet Russia. Not all of the rally was held there and the market here failed to show any movement corresponding to the gain on the other side of the water. The May delivery sold at high as 14 1/8 cents, but subsequently fell off to 13 1/8, at which price it showed a loss of 4 points for the day. Covering of shorts in wheat continued in the early trading, the May price advancing to 11 1/2 cents. With the operation completed and with no renewal of export demand, the price broke to 11 1/4 for a net loss of 4 cents, but a feeble rally of 1/4 of a cent occurred later.

Bank Refuses to Lower Rate.
Advocates of cheaper money in England were again disappointed today when the Bank of England refused to lower its discount rate. Even though the bank's reserve ratio showed an improvement from 13 1/2 per cent to 14 1/2, the decision to maintain the rate is perfectly natural, since the present rate compares with 2 1/2 per cent a year ago and since circulation is now over one-fourth greater, despite the fact that the level of commodity prices has fallen approximately 35 per cent in the intervening period. The doubtful character of attempts to bring a boom in trade and stocks on such a depleted reserve position, as advocated by the cheap money party, should be fairly evident. The week's recovery in the rate reflects a reduction in circulation of 25,000,000 pounds sterling and a reduction in deposits of $500,000,000 sterling.

Wall Street News and Comment
—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 17.—During the greater part of the time today the stock market moved with great irregularity. There had been a lot of short covering yesterday and the rise had been too rapid for new buyers to be willing to follow. More profits had accumulated in the hands of the active traders, and these were all technical circumstances, temporary, waiting against the market and it was very significant that so large a part of the list stood up as strongly as it did with even further advances in various directions. Profit-taking sales were well absorbed yesterday and an offer down at all, and prices were indicated that the turn which came Tuesday afternoon yesterday was looked upon as something more than temporary.

Motor and allied stocks, including the motor accessory and tire shares were among the strongest as they had been on previous days. Chandler, Studebaker, Stutz, Packard, Alcoa, Rubber and United States Rubber were the leaders in this group. The steel stocks were steady in face of heavy profit-taking and a fair reflection of a very real change for the better in influential quarters in the feeling regarding the steel trade.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

IN GREENWICH VILLAGE.

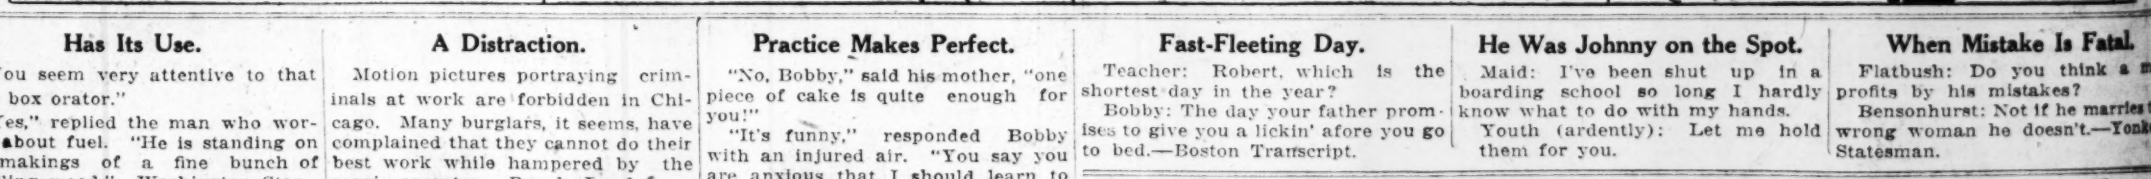

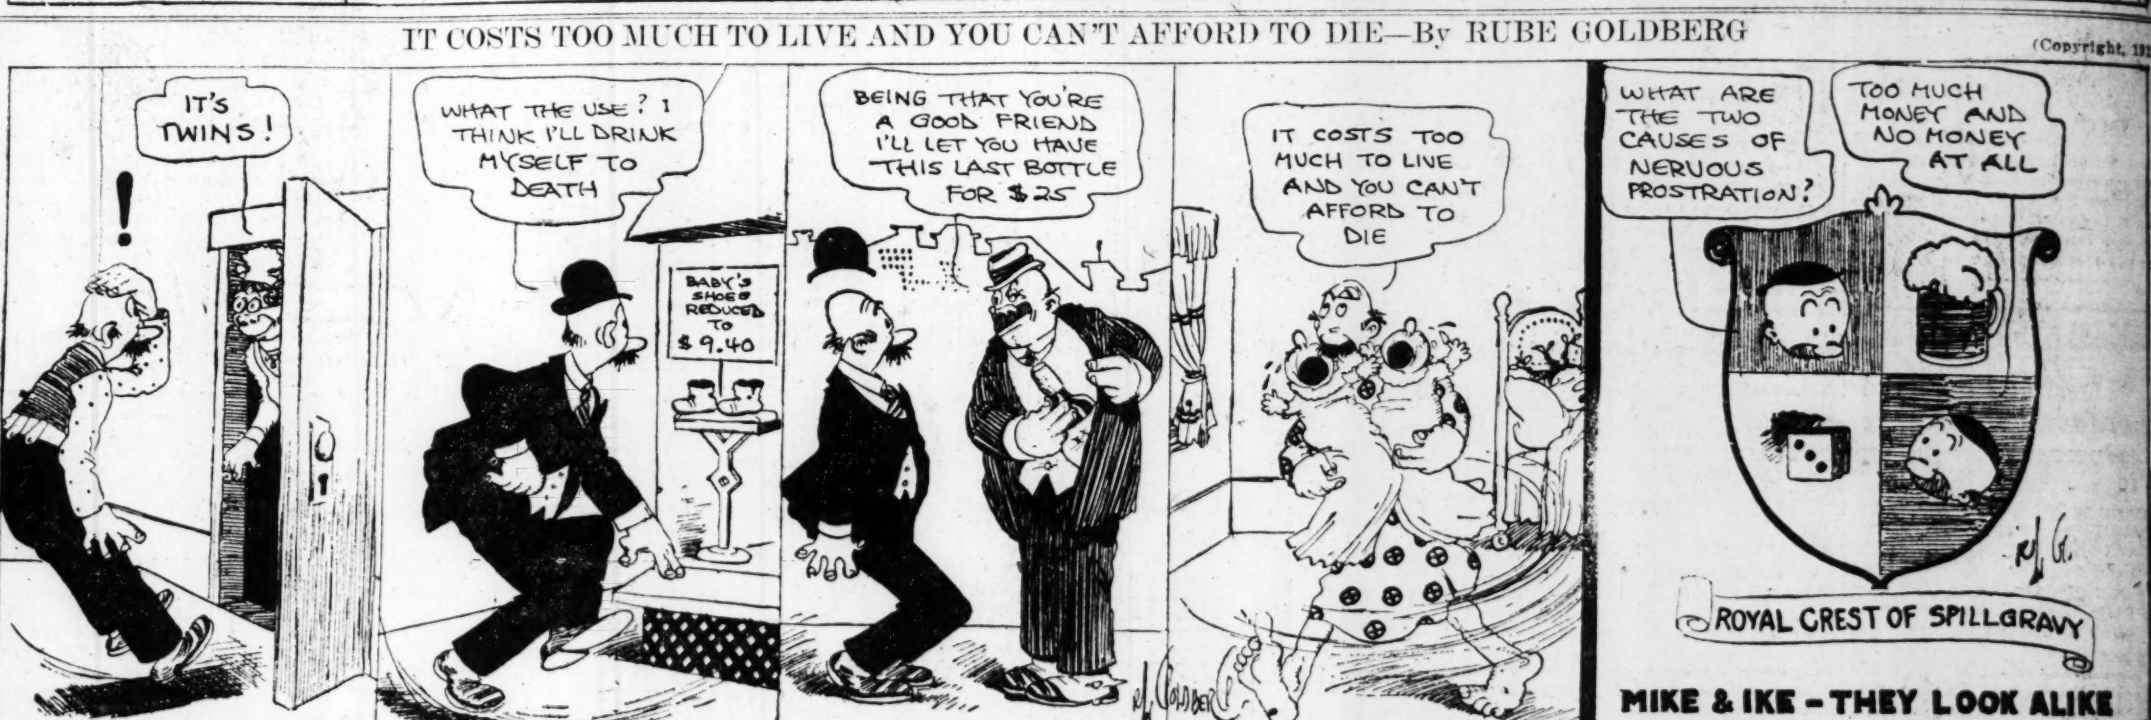

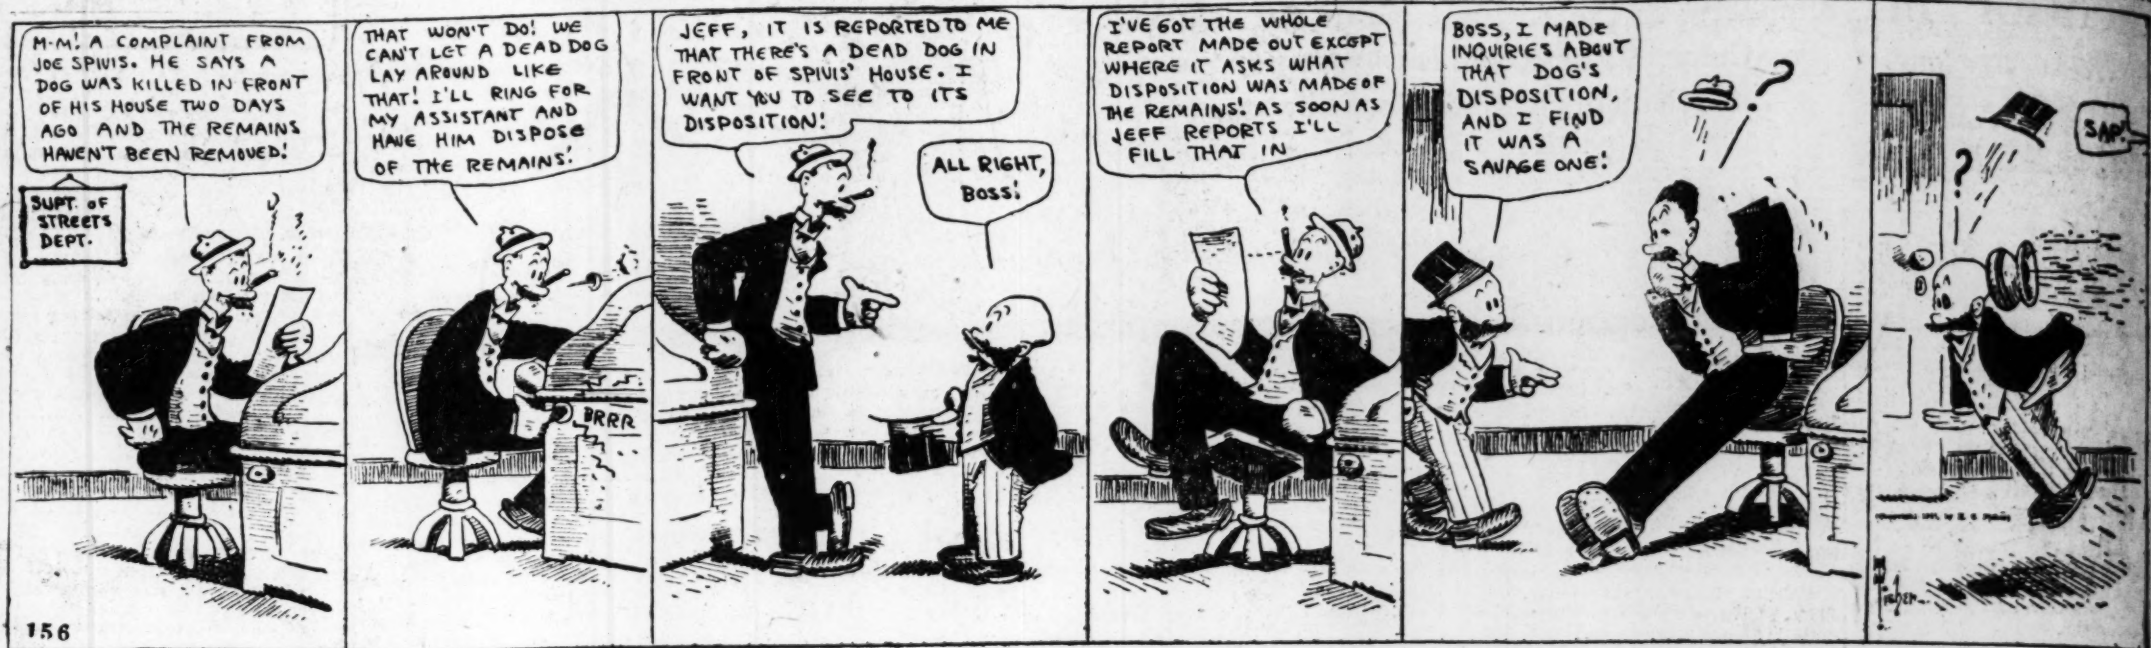

In Greenwich Village lived a lad
Who played the violin;
His notes were flat, his bowing bad,
His tones were harsh and thin.
But he was covetous of fame—
Despite these faults—and so
He gave himself a Slovak name
And let his whiskers grow.
And did these attributes of art
Improve his work a lot?
Although it nearly breaks our heart
We'll say that they did not.

In Greenwich Village lived a maid,
Obscure and unowned,
Who long and fruitlessly essayed
To write like Ezra Pound;
And when these efforts did not get
The damsel anywhere,
She firmly said, "I'll do it yet!"
And so she bobbed her hair,
And did this act exalt her verse
And make it lit and soar?
No; strange to say the stuff got worse
Than it had been before.

In Greenwich Village lived a youth
Who'd failed, for many a day,
To grasp some great eternal truth
And put it in a play.
But with ambition still undimmed
And ardor undestroyed,
He bought a pair of cheaters, rimmed
With mottled celluloid.
And did he make an audience throb
And shout and hold its breath?
Alas! he had to find a job
Or he'd have starved to death!
